DEDICATION

It is unusual for a Pot Pourri to be dedicated to a person other than an active member of the faculty. However, Mrs. Stott is anything but inactive in the school community. Through her unfailing generosity and unending efforts she has made Andover a more pleasant place in which to live. For years she has made Cooley House an open house where all could come and talk over tea, or instead, if they so chose, to sit quietly and think. It was due largely to her efforts that the new Brooks Hall Room in Cooley House was built and has become a success. This meant much more to this year's Senior Class than just another faculty-approved location to smoke, it provided a very important unifying factor for the class. Thus, it is with great pleasure that the Class of 1963 dedicates its yearbook to a true lady, and more importantly, to a good friend.

Sept. 17 — School reopens for 568 . . . opens for first time for 270. The football team has already been back a week . . . it is light but fast Soccer has no depth . . . cross-country is working hard and should be much improved. Buffoon baiters have a field day . . . three new buildings are ready for use. The repairs in George Washington Hall are not yet finished, so there will be no Saturday night movies for a while . . . when they are resumed they will be on a two-shift basis . . . there is much criticism but the faculty explains the change is only temporary. Soon, they say, the whole school will be back to the old system . . . maybe next year. The preps enrich their vocabularies: jock, Sam Phil, G.W., medical excuse "the Administration feels . . . " Matt Hall is elected President of the Student Congress . . . promises that this year's Congress won't sit back and do nothing.

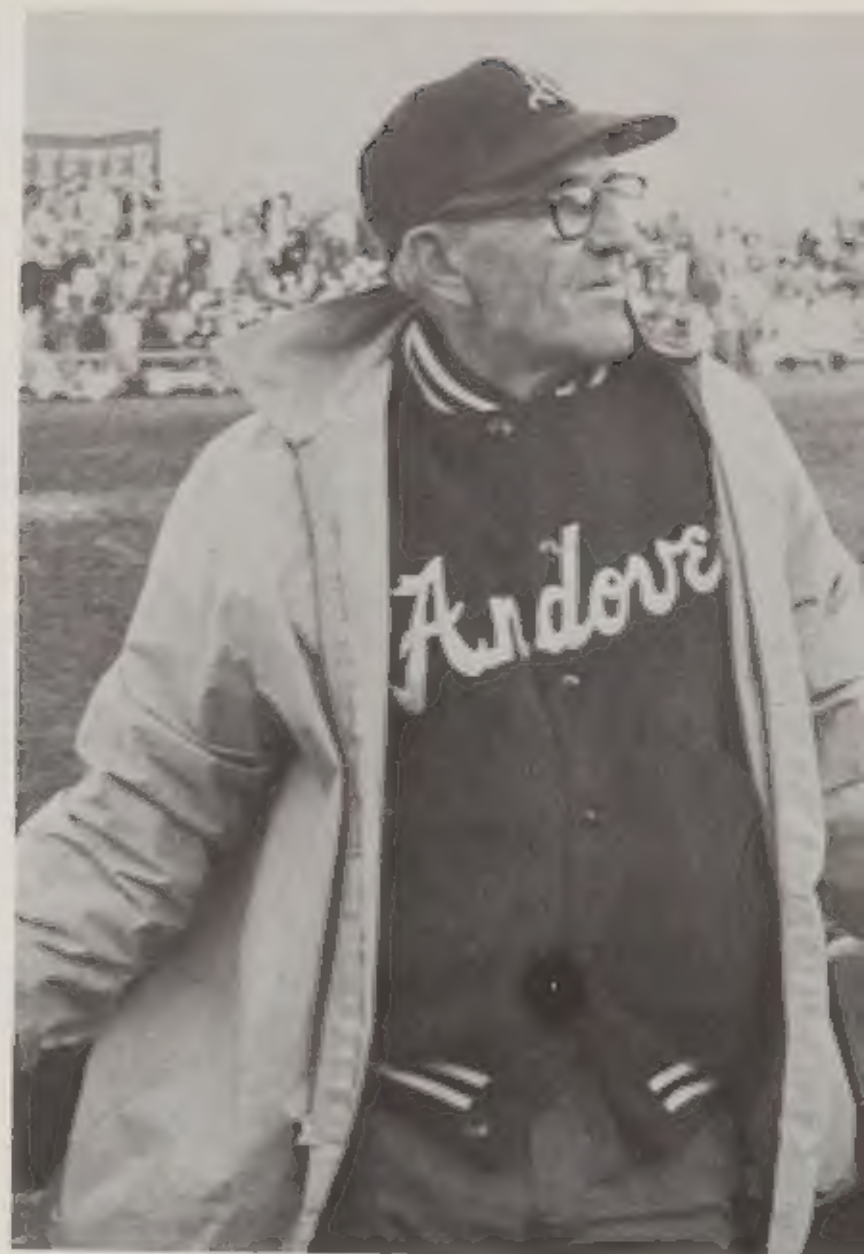

Sept. 29 — Football opens its season with a win over Northeastern . . . later the rest of the school opens its season by scrimmaging Abbott . . . the mixer is enjoyed by all . . . the 8'n'l and Casey make a big hit. Mr. Frederick speaks in assembly on the South and integration . . . coup d'etat rocks Africa Club . . . Caron replaces Samson. Soccer splits with G.D.A. and Yale. Oct. 16 — The Mayor of Memphis, Henry Loeb P.A.'39, lectures on Southern politics. The Blue falls to Lawrenceville again . . . Smoyer leads Soccer to victory over M.I.T. Russian delegates to a U.S.-U.S.S.R. conference stay at the Inn . . . many students take advantage of the opportunity to talk with them . . . Fuess House is dedicated. Mt. Hermon is hit by both Football and Soccer.

The Phillipian suggests proposals which would allow Seniors more free time . . . Stuart Hughes, candidate for the U.S. Senate speaks in assembly . . . lauds U.N. . . . blasts U.S. "isolationism" in Cuban crisis . . . good assembly to cut. Oct. 26—TIME features our cover girl " . . . Nation's best Prep school: Massachusetts' Andover" . . . damn observant magazine. Football comes back to sink Deerfield . . . stomps Williams . . . Teaching fellows outdebate Philo. Nov. 9 — the whole school rallies for The Game . . . the Red is looking for a "clean sweep" . . . soccer and cross-country have already fallen . . . that night the Phillips Society holds the Charities Drive,

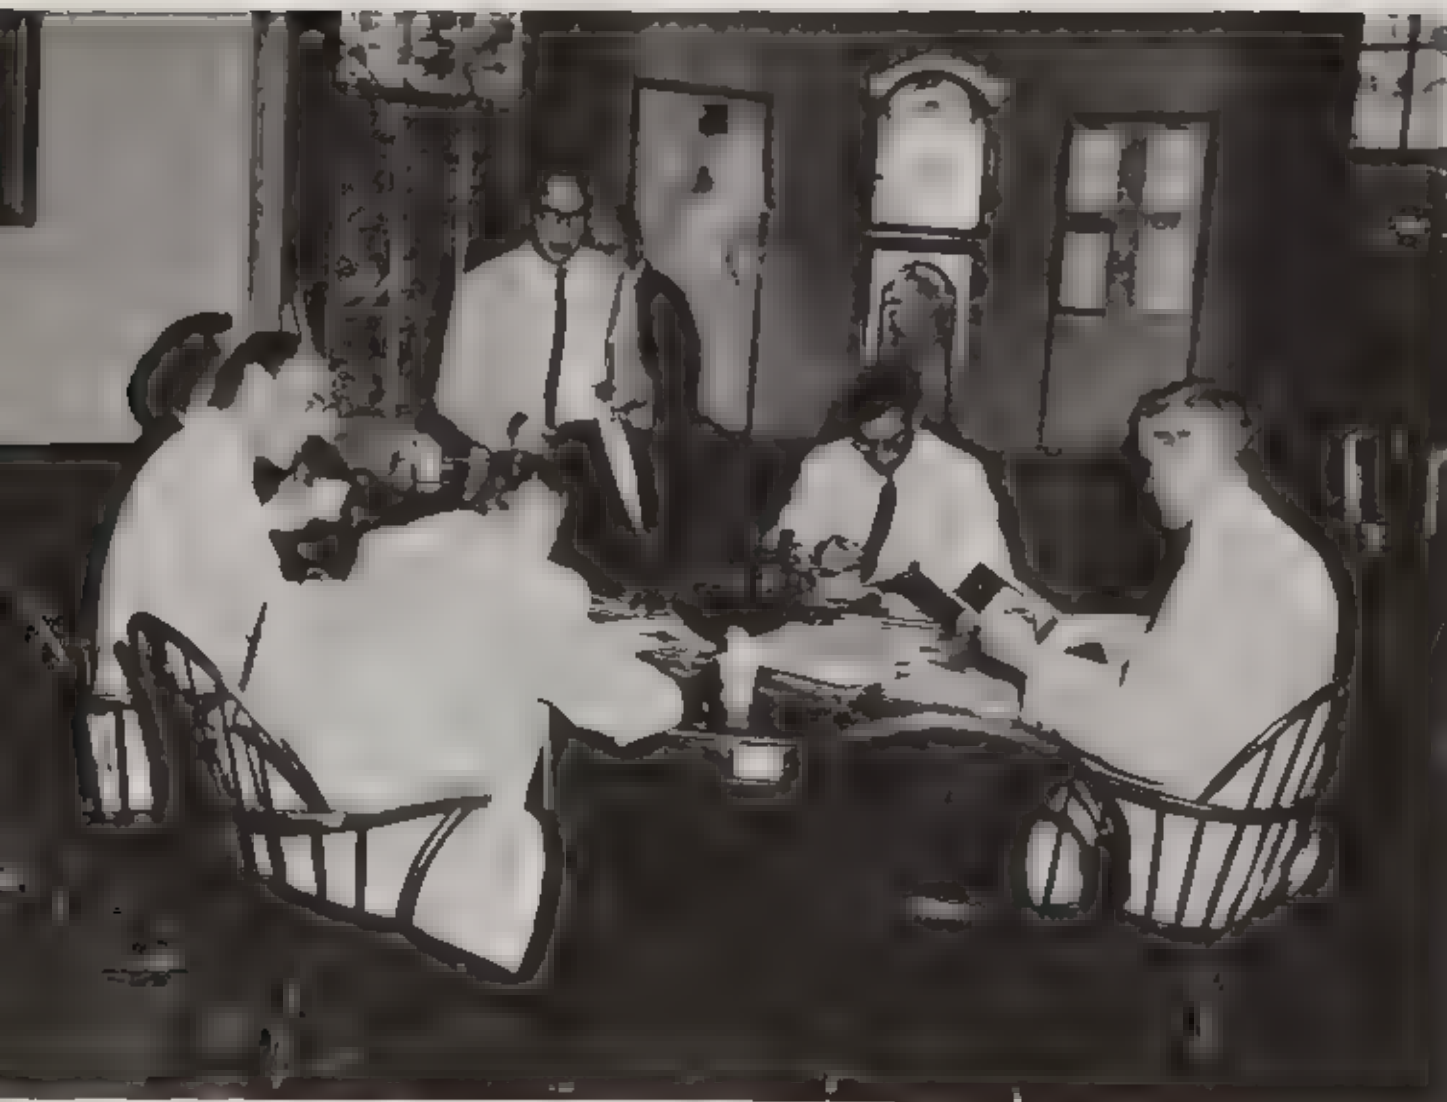

Nov. 10 — on a muddy field the Red holds the Blue to a 6-6 tie.

Tonken wins the Draper Prize as the school readies to go home for Thanksgiving . . . Dec. 1 — a sunny day — Seniors file out of Commons and head for the Gym to take College Boards . . . we'll do well, we've taken them once already . . . hours later the Seniors file out . . . oh, College . . . oh, well. Messrs. Kemper, Adriance, and Smith give series of lectures to alumni around country . . . Jeanne-Marie Darre opens the celebrity Series with an excellent performance. The Winter term athletic teams look good . . . the school prepares for exams . . . we attend our last Christmas Chapel Service . . . exams begin and the Fall term ends.

Jan. 8 — the Winter term starts . . . the Phillipian is bankrupt . . . G.W. is still not finished, so John Jay shows his ski movies to P.A. at the Andover Junior High School. The faculty agree to consider proposals for more free time . . . Morrison leads Hockey over Harvard . . . Odder gets hat trick to beat Bowdoin . . . Tankmen take Worcester and Mt. Hermon . . . Squash beats Choate, Deerfield, and St. Paul's. Munroe Leaf, author of "Ferdinand the Bull", gives the annual Hosch Lecture . . . urges us to take advantage of what we have been given. The Administration blasts "predatory females" . . . refuses to divulge what they are. Clayton Frawsell, head chef at Commons, passes away . . . Abbott defeats Philo . . . Latinists present "Captivi", first play ever given on new G.W. stage. Trustees meet . . . integrationist leader Bill Higgs visits with students. Jan. 22 — Professor

St. Germain of Merrimack College speaks on Massachusetts politics. Basketball beats Tabor and Deerfield . . . Cum Laude grants 22 Seniors membership . . . the Russian Club dances with Pingree and Beaver as the Batmen go wild . . . for the more sedate the Sawyer Concert is given. Yale Chaplain William Sloan Coffin speaks in Chapel on vocation.

In the most important political event of the year Samson holds rally in Peabody House . . . Blake leaves early . . . through a window. Squash beats Exeter but the Red drubs B-Ball . . . the long weekend helps break Winter Term monotony . . . so does Sandra Hochman. Hall is re-elected President of Student Congress . . . Hockey smashes B.U. . . . Swimmers sink Brown . . . Philo outdebates Roxbury Latin. Feb. 13 — Dr. Jonas Salk, the conqueror of Polio, visits P.A. and gives the Stearns Lecture . . . Mr. Kemper corresponds with parents of Seniors . . . New England A.A.U. track meet is held in the Cage . . . because of study hours students are not allowed to attend . . . many do anyway. Squash stops Harvard as Hockey beats St. Paul's . . . the Phillips Society canvasses for books to be sent to Ghana. Novelist Anthony Robinson, P.A. '49, speaks to faculty and students . . . Dr. Cole delivers the first of the Stimson Lectures held under the auspices of the Asia Society . . . the Howard Johnson's on route 28 burns.

Lou Wiley announces the faculty's decision to let Seniors substitute a faculty-approved project in place of Spring athletics . . . MacLean and Wiley, Presidents of Pnyx and Philo, out debate Mt. Hermon . . . the Phillipian announces the '64 staff. . . Mydans to be new President. March 2 — Pete Johnson heads cast in fine production of Macbeth . . . Hockey beats Exeter, but Squash, Track, Wrestling, Swimming, and Basketball fall before the Red wave . . . the Exonian announces, "Exeter is primarily an athletic institution" . . . Andover can vouch for the authenticity of that statement . . . it is a tough way to end the term, but Spring sports promise revenge. For the Seniors there is only one more term of Andover — the Spring term! madras jackets, the prom, warm weather, stickball . . . Winter Term exams end and the school leaves for Spring vacation.

April 3 — the Spring Term begins . . . only 65 days until graduation. Ford C. Schulz, the High Commissioner of Stickball, announces the opening of the season. Sportlite, a preview of Spring athletic teams produced by Ken Kusterer and John Kane, appears . . . the Phillipian denounces the Senior Class for its lack of leadership. Chorus dances with Abbot . . . it is announced that Mr. Lane has been chosen by the Government to be a member of the U.S.-U.S.S.R. Teachers Exchange program . . . he will travel to Russia as one of 25 U.S. representatives. Baseball smashes Northeastern and Lacrosse downs Tufts to open their seasons. Admiral MacMillan, the famed Arctic explorer, speaks to the school in assembly . . . Dr. Pye, Chairman of Political Science at M.I.T., lectures on Asian politics.

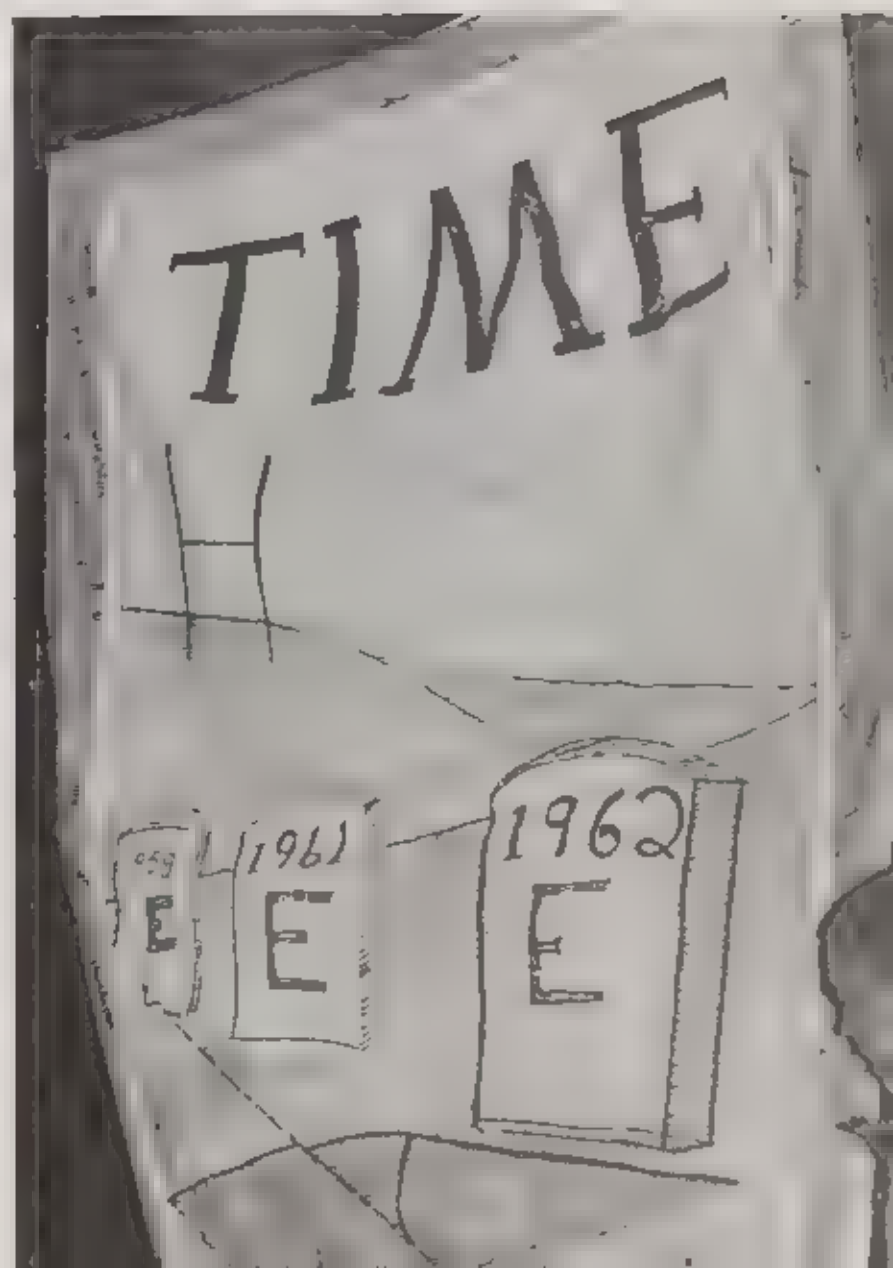

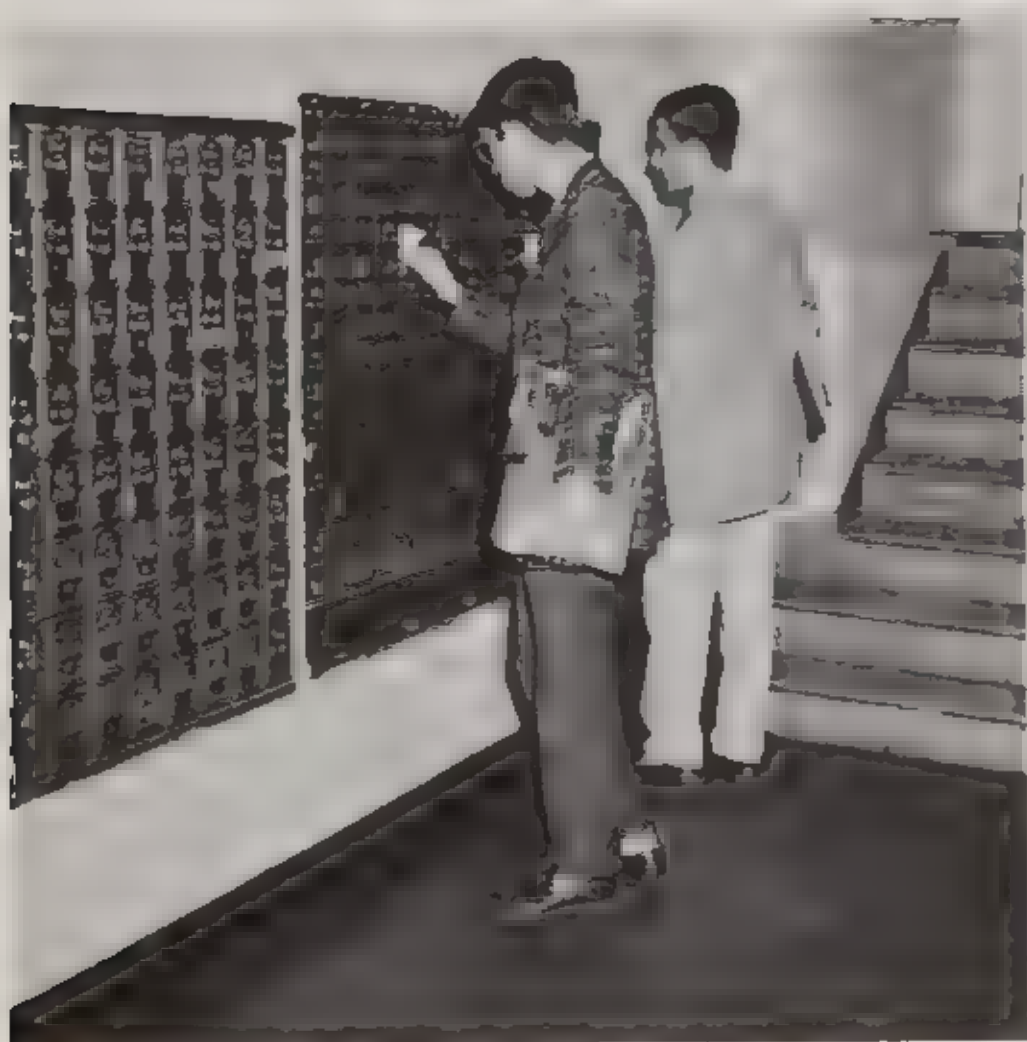

The Perforated Pigeon Plop becomes the center of attention in Flagstaff Court . . . march on Abbot is stopped by the Faculty . . . the Senior Diner's Club meets in Commons . . . after a discussion with the proprietor it adjourns to Benner House. Lacrosse continues to roll over all opponents, but Baseball runs into strong freshmen teams.

April 24 — Hal Holbrook, in "Mark Twain Tonight", gives the last Celebrity Series Performance of the year . . . Marshall wins the Means Essay Contest . . . Foster and McIlroy win National Merit Scholarships . . . Faggi receives the Aurelian Honor Society Award. "Bye Bye Birdie" is given . . . Holland and Casey star as the show is a tremendous success. Yale and Harvard acceptances come in . . . the Abbot Bazaar is held. Senator Barry Goldwater speaks to a capacity audience in G.W. . . . the leading candidate for the Republican nomination for President in 1964 was invited to speak at P.A.
by Jim Binns, President of the Russian Club.

May 10 — Venezia . . . 180 couples attend . . .
rain falls Friday night and off and on Saturday, but the Prom, thanks to a great decorating job.

is still a huge success. Deerfield edges both Baseball and Lacrosse . . . Professor Dufton of Northeastern lectures in assembly on Russia. Andover sailors defeat Exeter in a race on the Charles River . . . in a much more important athletic event the Harvard Nads defeat the Foxcroft Craw-Trots . . . led by Zuckerman, Levin, Gonzales, and Fabiano, all P.A. '62, and several Radcliffe cheerleaders who didn't attend P.A., the Nads were too professional for any undergraduate organization.

The Senior Diner's Club strikes again . . . Mr. Benedict and P.A.'63 are toasted in Saturday assembly. Five Seniors defend the class in the Senior Assembly . . . the Individualism of the members of the class is cited . . . the pressures and tensions of Andover are criticized. The Brooks Hall Room, a new common room for Seniors in Cooley House, is dedicated . . . Philo defeats Pnyx in the Robinson debate . . . Badger is selected to lead the 1964 8'n'l . . . Bush is selected to lead the '64 cheerleaders . . . the new Art Center and the new Science Building are dedicated. Crew loses to Kent in the Interscholastics by three seconds . . . Tennis beats Exeter but Track and Lacrosse fall to the Red. May 30 — Memorial Day . . . the Flyers score 11 runs in the last two innings to defeat the Jungle Bunnies for the Stickball title. Baseball loses to Exeter . . . it is not a pleasant way to end four years of Andover-Exeter athletics.

June 2 — the Senior Chapel Service is held . . . the athletic banquet is given for all letter winners . . . Bill Sullivan, the President of the American Football League is the guest speaker. The next day exams start. After Prize Day Wednesday, Commencement activities begin . . . the Senior-Faculty dinner . . . Moby Realtney. Friday, June 7 — Graduation.

Front: Johnson (Pres.), Uihlein (V. Pres.).
Back: Prabl (Sec.), Clapp (Treas.).

A lot of things came to P.A. this year: liberalism with Stewart Hughes, conservatism with Barry Goldwater, Russians during the Cuban crisis, Will Rapport (Time, Inc.), and even a few predatory females — but most important was the arrival of the Andover Program. As the year progressed, multi-million dollar monuments to a greater Andover began to rise about the campus. Change in the physical outlook of the school produced a Senior shift in attitude from emphasis on group action to concern for individual initiative and accomplishment.

The Andover Program also led to a new sense of the complexity and problems of the school. While the E.C.C. (Extra-Curricular Council) took root under Senior guidance and promised to help solve the conflicts among the expanding clubs, this year's Student Congress also took a responsible role on school life: it helped plan the faculty-student lounge in the Arts Center, led the faculty to recognize the merits of a one showing movie system, and tested out a system for having the Headmaster serve as a direct advisor to the Congress. This last move may revolutionize the nature of student government by eliminating delays in necessary action and by breaking down communication barriers between the school and faculty or headmaster.

Seniors, however, were not sterile in their rebellion against pressures and change. The perforated pigeon plop ignited the first good Abbot riot in recent years, and the Senior Class Play, Moby Realtney, served as another outlet for frustrations. The opponents of a Senior Class Party won the battle but lost the war; and, on the lighter side, the Senior Diners' Club made two fine appearances this spring.

Perhaps the most significant accomplishment of the Class of 1963 was the Senior Independent Projects Group which grew out of a Student Congress proposal to free certain blocks of time for Seniors in order that they could pursue projects not connected with school work. This program, however, may only be the beginning not only of a new concern for the individual student, but also for a meaningful faculty-student relationship. The Senior class leaves the school a legacy of direct faculty-student contacts in the form of committees, and a genuine student desire to broaden the role of the student in policy making and thereby increase his responsibility to the whole community.

But one question remains, that raised by Northeast '63: is our class a product of P.A. and therefore will it merely adapt and conform, or will it rather produce? Indeed, the Andover Program's remarkable results have had untold effect on the whole school, especially the Seniors, but something suggests that the Class of 1963 is an unusual class: a seeming lack of leadership and unity.

Any cultured and unified society is composed of three types of people: a few leaders, a few inventive and searching individuals, and the conforming mass. The function of the individuals is to provide new material for the abstract and tangible life; the function of the leaders is to convey the results to the public and to persuade that public towards them. Perhaps this explains why this year's Senior class was not a model of society and why Senior-Faculty relations were so strained: the class had too many individuals and would not conform inwardly, although sometimes it did outwardly, to the rules of uniform society. Let us only hope that its members contribute amply to the creative individualism which they fought so hard to maintain.

L. to R.: Vermeil (V. Pres.), Cooper (Pres.)

The first few rainy days of fall marked the beginning of a turbulent year for Uppers. We found ourselves with new privileges, greater challenges, and increasing responsibility in the affairs of the school. A few anxious Uppers tried Prepping, but many of us were taking charge for real. Dan Cooper was elected Student Congress Vice-President; Forum, and both debating societies had Upper officers; and a couple of our classmates appeared in TIME magazine displaying typical wall decorations. We were now important to varsity athletic teams, especially Cross-country, which featured Captain Dick Howe as chief point-getter. We broke in the new Arts building with its first art classes, crossed the wine-dark seas with Odysseus, and moved into the Kemper Room for movies with the Seniors.

Winter term found Uppers the big splashes in the swimming pool, the tape-breakers for the fleetfeet, and the backbone of the bonebenders. Harry Hives struggled through Macbeth with aplomb, we helped the Seniors put life into the ECC, Coop brought the Student Congress hassle to a head with his resignation, and the Upper class was right in the middle of the school-spirit controversy. We battled the Seniors with snowballs in Flagstaff court, and Exeter with basketballs, hockey pucks, and squash rackets to round out the term.

In the spring, the "gunners" of the Lacrosse team were Uppers, tennis and golf number-one men Gonzales and Weinberger were both Upper repeats, Huvelle and Howe sparkled for the Spring spikemen, and New cheerleader "lip" Bush got everybody out to the Exeter contests. The Uppers now had an unproctored dining hall, the leadership of the Phillipian, the Means Essay winner, and the lead in a professional production of "Bye Bye Birdie". The Mirror displayed more and more of our work, especially in art; Cutler took second in the Andover-Exeter art contest; Eastland and Pfeifle had it out on the brink of Rabbit Pond; and Playboy Uppers took almost as many girls to the rainy Prom as did the Seniors. We got back our SAT scores—among the highest in PA's history — took the AP's and achievements, and picked Harvard as the "college of our choice". Before we finished the Spring term, we made sure that an Upper team won the stickball tournament. Appropriately named, the Paul Revere "Flyers" pulled out the game with an eleven run rally in the last inning. The spirit of flying characterized our class more and more as the year progressed, and a mutual respect for one another's individuality made for an ever-strengthening bond of class unity.

was due in part to those Lowers who were members of varsity teams and the many Lowers who made the Honor Roll at the end of the Fall term. Christmas vacation, passed with a profusion of snow, both female and the damp, cold stuff.

We drifted through the snow and slush of the Winter term in a state of semi-consciousness. We entered the "Winter term rut" which changed direction only on Saturdays and Wednesdays. The "dry British humor" type movies which were shown us became as unpalatable as Commons food. We attended sports events to cheer on those Lowers who held important positions on varsity teams. Then suddenly the long grind was over and we went home for Spring. We came back from Spring refreshed and ready for the short run to the end of the year. Once again we found ourselves longing for the co-ed existence of our high-school contemporaries. Recognizing both our needs and the fact that election time was just around the corner, our class officers whirled into action and pulled off a class dance on the last open weekend of the term. Perhaps anything would have looked good to us at that point, but the young ladies of Dana Hall and Beaver were especially outstanding. So stimulated were we that the last week of review passed by before any of us cracked a book. However exams were soon over and we left to enjoy the Summer. Our year to romp is over and next year we must and will start to accept the responsibilities that go with being upperclassmen.

Lower year started as the sight of the bell tower piercing through the cloudy sky welcomed us back to Andover. For us the long walk to receive our diplomas was one year closer. We had been told this was our year to romp and we intended to take every advantage of it. We skipped gaily through the first few days and met our responsibilities with a minimum of effort. We paused to laugh at our new classmates as they walked around with signs saying "I am a cigarette lighter" or as they screamed "I love Seniors". When the new comers were accepted, we congealed into a solid class. A few of us entered the forbidden land of Riley Room and fought off all opposition. By the end of the year, the tradition-bound Uppers and Seniors had been forced to accept the foreign elements. Because of the successful invasion of Riley Room and the privileges gained therein, Peabody House was left to the pool sharks and television viewers and was the site of infrequent incidents such as the time one of our illustrious members succeeded in putting the eight ball through the window. An even more illustrious member of the class managed to be thrown out of the window himself. In spite of all this our class managed to maintain its sterling reputation. This

June, 1963, marks the passing of a distinguished Junior class, not distinguished in the trivial foibles of scholastic and athletic ability, but in the salient, virtuous levels of highs and lows achieved by the numerous (148 less 1) chunks of the class.

When the leaves drifted down and cries of "Hey, Prep!" and "Hey, Buff!" throbbed over Baldwin Memorial Field and helpless unknowns ran backwards across the grass, a new class started to evolve. Before it would become just another part of the mass of bodies, the Student body, a member would have committed thirteen errors in a stickball game, some Andover men in one corridor of a dorm (which shall be nameless) would have been posted seventeen times, and one other member would have received a total of one point in Junior Phys. Ed.

The fall term was highlighted by unsuccessful athletic seasons and a defection; one Junior made his bid for identity by fleeing the ranks for the outside world, abandoning the institution and failing to give of himself to the school. Rockwell defeated the lowly Will Hall men in the annual debate, and as soon as Mother and the dog were forgotten, New England mud announced the arrival of winter and a break from the toils for God and Mr. Kemper.

The tinkle of window glass reminded us again of the winter and the inevitable snowball battles and the inevitable dormitory discipline and the inevitable housemasters. Will Hallers forced the dissolution of the deficiency system due to ridiculousness, by gleefully piling up record mounds of punishments and devoting Wednesdays to the heavy snows which are so common in that part of the wilderness. Two Juniors skied with the Varsity, and Junior hockey, headed by "B.I." Clift, skated through an excellent season, revealing some good prospects to the school for later seasons. The mud came again and Richard II died in early March as Juniors packed up for home, hale and hearty from Mr. Leet's delicacies after fighting through two thirds of their baptism of fire at Andover with only one casualty.

April came in a flurry of activities and blossoming talent, and the Apostles (a rock 'n' roll combo) banged out tunes at Abbot dances as Mr. Baldwin most graciously thanked the Head Mistress and the choir of P.A. for their contributions to our Sunday Chapel services. Following a string of undefeated tennis matches, Junior ringer Tottenham was named athlete of the week by the Phillipian, and two mere Juniors" composed superb essays to capture the Leonard prize (White) and astound Mirror subscribers (Foster). We all suddenly woke up to the fact (with the aid of assembly speakers) that we were a class, even if only Juniors, and that, from Buffer to Joe, we were now part of the school. We knew what "flap, flap, zoom!" implied, and we had acquired all the voices of a true Andover man: cynicism, an intrinsic feeling of superiority, and the urge (to smoke in the Infirmary). We can now scorn such things as "Senior flyers" and Pot Pourri articles with a highly developed sneer.

Led by Captain Frank Hekimian some sixty players reported back for early practice. With many returnees and good material coming up from the JV's, the outlook for the season was bright. After a hard week of drills the team settled down for the season's tough schedule. Although lighter than most Andover squads, great spirit and a lot of hustle earned the team a 4-1-1 record.

The Blue played its opener on September 29 against a Northeastern Freshmen team which outweighed Andover twenty pounds per man. A long pass from Joe Belforti to Dan Hootstein late in the fourth quarter gave the Blue a great come-from-behind win, 12-8. Playing the entire game the interior line of Dan Johnson, John Faggi, Frank Hekimian, Pete Schulz, and Joe McGirt gave the speedy backfield of Hootstein, Pappas, and Farrar good protection. In the second quarter Northeastern scored after recovering a Blue fumble. The conversion was good, and at the end of the half they led 8-0. There was no further scoring until midway through the last period, when a great defensive play by Vic Petzy gave Andover the ball deep in Northeastern territory. Three plays later Hootstein went over right tackle for the score. The try for extra points failed but the Frosh could only return McGirt's kickoff to their own 15. The Blue's defense held, forcing Northeastern to kick. After two pass attempts failed, Belforti hit Hootstein in the end zone giving Andover a hard-earned and well-deserved victory.

The following week's game, an almost certain victory against the Tufts Freshmen, was postponed. On October 13 the team took a plane down to Lawrenceville where it suffered the only defeat of the season, 14-6. Injuries to Belforti, Schulz, and Kidder, plus some untimely mental lapses on the part of the Blue proved too much to overcome as the Larries continued their three year jinx over Andover. The first half was dominated by hard play, neither team having a definite superiority. However, Lawrenceville was able to sustain one drive which resulted in the first half's only score. The Blue was able to get only one drive started, but was halted at the Larries' 12 yard line. Thus the half ended with Lawrenceville leading 6-0. In the third period Lawrenceville, aided by Blue penalties, went 92 yards in 18 plays for the winning score. Late in the fourth quarter Andover marched 53 yards for its only TD, Hootstein going over from the one. The conversion failed, and, although Hekimian blocked a punt giving Andover the ball on the Lawrenceville 24, the game ended with the Blue on the short end of a 14-6 score.

The next week the Blue overpowered Mt. Hermon, 20-6. The Andover line, anchored by Hekimian, completely dominated the larger Mt. Hermon line, and the offense, led by Jack Morrison and Tom O'Keefe easily picked up yardage. Morrison at quarterback scored once and engineered the other Blue scores. Hootstein, O'Keefe, and Farrar constantly gained yards on the ground; Hootstein and O'Keefe each scoring a TD. Whenever needed, punter John Kidde was able to put Mt. Hermon deep in their own territory with long kicks. Andover's defense was so effective that Mt. Hermon was unable to gain a first down until the last quarter.

On October 28 the Blue defeated Deerfield, 26-13 scoring three touchdowns in the last six minutes. Rog Farrar was the game's high scorer with 14 points. The Green scored first on a twenty-five yard run in the first period, and then kicked the extra point to lead 7-0. Both teams were able to score in the second quarter and at the end of the half Deerfield led 13-6. The third quarter and first half of the fourth produced no further scoring. With time running out the Blue came alive. After a long drive Belforti hit O'Keefe with a twenty-five yard pass in the end zone. The conversion attempt failed and Andover still trailed by one point. The Blue went ahead for good, however, when end Vic Petzy jarred the ball loose from a Deerfield back and Dick Fleming grabbed the fumble in mid-air then carried it into the end zone. With a minute left to play Andover got an insurance TD as Farrar went over from the two.

Playing in a steady rain Andover soundly trounced the Williams Freshmen 22-0. The Blue line, led again by Hekimian, recovered a fumble and blocked two punts; while the backfield was not noticeably hindered by the poor footing. In the first quarter after Kidder had recovered a Williams fumble and Hootstein and Farrar had brought the ball into scoring position, Joe Belforti carried the ball seven yards for the score. In the second quarter Belforti passed to Petzy who, sprung loose by a block by L. E. Sawyer, went forty yards for Andover's second score. In the third quarter Hootstein scored the Blue's final TD of the day as he climaxed a seventy yard drive. This was the only game of the season where the Blue was able to score extra points with regularity, as Morrison and Hootstein each picked up one.

On November 10 the Blue played its final game of the season against the 1961 High-School all-stars, which happened to have enrolled en masse at Exeter. For the second straight week the game was played during a rainstorm. From the start when Terry Thomas kicked the ball out of the Exeter end zone, Andover dominated play but was forced to settle for a 6-6 tie against a much larger team. There was no scoring in the first period as neither team could get a serious drive started. Fumbles hurt both teams as they were to throughout the game. A break came for the Red in the second quarter when a punt was downed on the Blue's four. Andover was forced to punt and Kidde's attempt was blocked by the hard-rushing Exeter line, O'Donnell recovering in the end zone for the TD. Andover was unable to score and the half ended with the Blue behind 6-0. Midway through the third quarter a high pass from center enabled Andover to get the ball on the Red twenty-five. Hootstein and Farrar moved the ball to the three where Hootstein carried it over for the score. Morrison's attempt for the conversion failed. In the fourth quarter the two teams traded interceptions but neither team was able to score again.

After the game L. E. Sawyer and Dick Reynolds were elected co-captains for 1963.

With Captain Bill Smoyer as the only returning letterman, this year's soccer team faced the difficult task of continuing the good record of recent P.A. soccer teams. Such problems as injuries, bad weather, and the inability to work together as a coordinated unit hampered the team. However, the P.A. booters' ability was better than its won-lost record indicated; three games were one point decisions, and several games were closer than the scores showed. Largely a building year, the season was a very disappointing one both for Coach DiClemente and the members of the team.

Looking strong in their opener against Governor Dummer, the Blue easily won 5-1. Tory Peterson and Chris Frantz each scored twice to lead the team's victory. The halfbacks Bill Schaefer, Bob Chessman and Peterson played especially well, and they were the key to the success of the offense and defense. The hopes of the Blue after the opening victory were dimmed by a quick two goals at Yale the following Saturday. Although the play was even in the second half, the frosh went on to win 5-1, with Bill Smoyer's goal the only P.A. tally.

The Blue romped over M.I.T. Frosh 7-1 and then succumbed to the powerful Dartmouth Freshmen 2-0. Played in a light drizzle, the

M.I.T. game was highlighted by Captain Smoyer's four goals and Henry "Kofi" Richardson's two goals. Unable to take advantage of a strong wind and numerous scoring opportunities, the "Dekemen" lost a close one to a strong Dartmouth Freshman team. Allowing only two goals, John Meck played a particularly good game in the nets.

The biggest upset of the year came when P.A. was shut out by a fired-up Medford High School team. The following Saturday with the aid of goals by Dan Badger and "Kofi" Richardson and the presence of the Northfield rooters, P.A. shut out Mt. Herman 2-0. Don MacFarlane replaced injured John Meck in the second quarter and went on to play an excellent game.

The next two contests against St. Paul's and Deerfield were discouraging losses of 2-1 and 3-1, respectively. In both games P.A. had many chances to score, but the forward line could not provide the needed scoring punch. The St. Paul's game was marked by numerous penalties, and each team scored on a penalty kick. Lack of teamwork was the chief cause of both these losses.

P.A. next faced two very strong college frosh teams, Harvard and Brown. The Blue lost to a very good Harvard team 7-3 on a rain-soaked field. The Brown game was the Blue's best performance in the last five contests, but a superior Brown team dominated the play and the "Dekemen" fell 2-0. Andover was fired up to beat Exeter and salvage an otherwise mediocre season. Playing a spirited game, the Blue lost a heart-breaker; Exeter's lone tally came on a penalty kick early in the first quarter.

CROSS COUNTRY

Wright (Mgr.), Cory, Huvelle, Baumer, Kellet, Howe (Capt.), Smith Dennehy, Seligson, Newsholme, Everett.

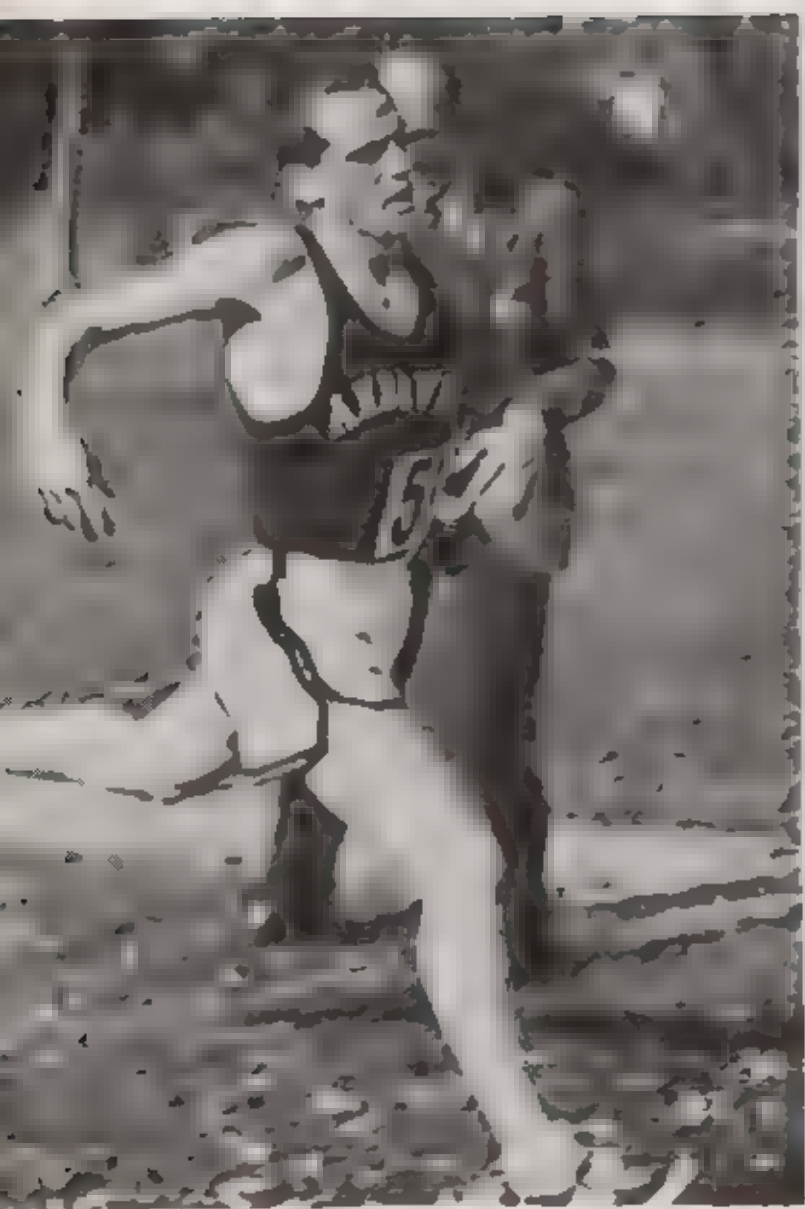

The 1962 cross-country squad showed a vast improvement over the one of the previous year. Although three wins in six dual meets would seem a mediocre record, Coaches Kimball and Hallowell were most pleased at the performance of the squad, composed almost entirely of underclassmen. Those meets in which the Harriers did succumb to far more powerful teams were never runaways, and Captain Dick Howe was inevitably near the front of the pack.

The squad, opening its season against the M.I.T. Freshmen, overcame its lack of experience by means of extra drive and came out on top. Lower prep Pete Dennehy pleasantly surprised all by finishing second among Andover runners, right behind Howe. Three days later, P.A.'s runners took on a fleet freshmen squad from Northeastern. The Frosh took the first three places in a one-sided meet. With a week to build before their next meet, against U.N.H., the Kimballmen trained vigorously. The result was not a victory, but a very close race against a strong opponent which had squashed P.A. the previous year. The subsequent journey to Harvard proved the final setback of the season, with Dick Howe nevertheless taking second place, right at the heels of the Crimson leader.

The now well-conditioned team began to have better luck, with practically all its members turning in constantly better times. It traveled to St. Paul's and performed excellently on the difficult course there. Of the first ten finishers in that meet, eight were the blue. The next week at home the Harriers had a similar victory against Deerfield. Howe, Kellett, and Newsholme finished in the first three spots, and Andover runners took nine of the first ten places. The team now felt hopes for the interscholastic championship at St. Paul's. Although everyone fought admirably, the squad had to be satisfied with third place, just behind Mt. Hermon and Exeter. Next year, however, with all but two lettermen returning, the squad has an outstanding chance of being the championship team.

HOCKEY

Andover's Varsity Hockey team had another successful season this year, winning eleven games and losing five. Marked by outstanding talent in all lines and defenses, this year's team continued to produce the record which has made it the envy of prep-school hockey in the East.

Andover started off the season with a game against last year's New England champion Melrose High School. Sparked by the repeated drives of Captain Jack Morrison, Andover began the season with an easy 6-2 victory over this traditionally tough high school team.

Next on the team's list of opponents was the Waterville, Maine, High School hockey squad. For their final game before Christmas vacation, P. A.'s skaters blasted their way to a 9-2 victory against the northerners. Once again Morrison led the team, skating around and through whole lines to score four goals for the Blue.

Returning from Christmas vacation refreshed and ready to skate, the team faced the Harvard Freshmen and took them 6-4 in a rough and fast moving game, proving that they were certainly in the running with an expert team again. For their next opponents the Blue travelled north to play the Bowdoin Freshmen squad. Playing for the first time that season on ice other than their own, the team proved that it could be just as powerful away from home. This time it was "Lil" John Odden who proved that prep-school teams were not little score-wise, producing three of the team's four goals that day.

Returning home for a series of games against prep-school teams, the Blue produced their first shutout of the season, thanks to the efforts of goalie Jon Stableford, against the Milton Academy Varsity. Once again the team displayed the fast skating which was one of its most potent weapons against any opposition.

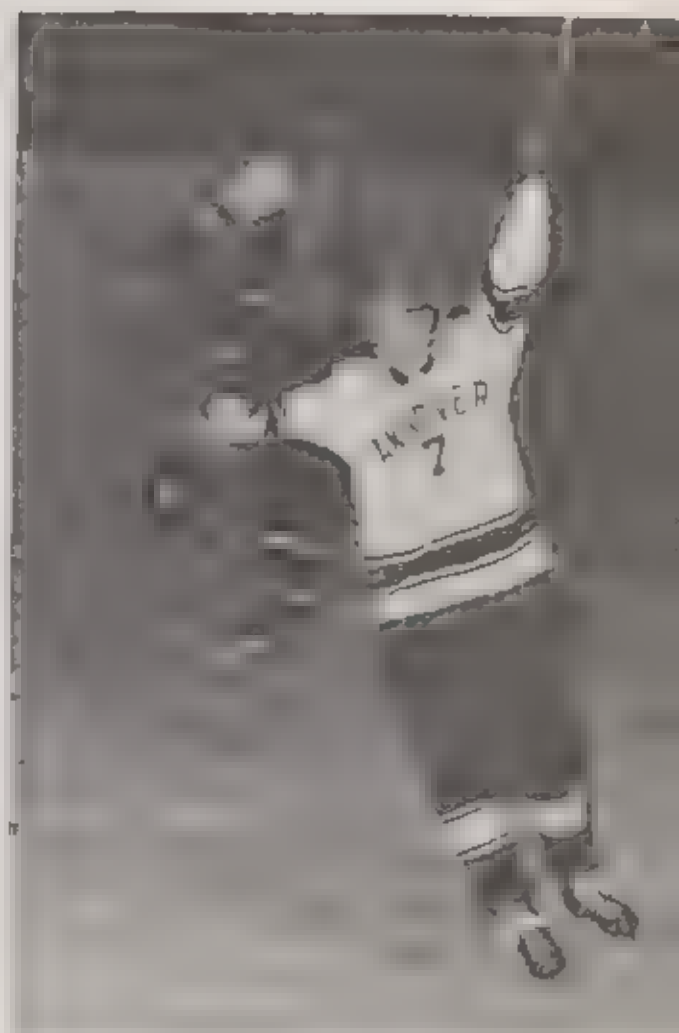

On January 19 the Blue faced its most powerful opposition to date when it played Deerfield Academy in its first night game of the season. The rink was mobbed to see one of the season's most exciting games; the score was tied or close to it throughout the hour of play. The Blue, however dominated the play for the entire game and came out ahead 4-3.

The following Wednesday a third prep-school team invaded the campus—Belmont Hill. Another strong team in recent years, Belmont Hill placed second in the Lawrenceville Tournament this year. This game was long, fast, and hard fought with all three Belmont goals coming within a space of two minutes when the Blue was one man down. Although P.A. drove down within scoring distance many times, luck was against them each time as the shots went wide or off the side of the cage. For the first time in three seasons of play, the Blue lost to Belmont

Hill by one point in a game in which luck seemed against them all the way.

The Belmont Hill game began a four game losing streak for the Blue as they faced Dartmouth and former Andover Captain Charlie Stuart, Northeastern, and Brown. Each time, although playing very good hockey, luck was against P.A. Easy shots unaccountably went wide, others bounced off steel cages, opposing goalies made seemingly impossible saves, and Andover players spent a better part of their time in the penalty box.

With a completely revamped line and defense, the team went on the ice to play the Boston University Freshmen, determined to break their bad luck. Hitting them right after most of their team had flunked out at the midyears and hitting hard, the Blue trounced B.U. 11-4 — the widest margin of victory of the season. Bill Smoyer led the team, scoring three of those goals.

The next opponent was the Boston College Freshmen. Playing a very fast and close game, the Blue kept the score tied until the last two minutes of play. Then B.C. scored twice, the last score of the day being made with one second left to play.

St. Paul's school was hoping to be the first prep-school to break the seemingly undefeatable P.A. team. After Belmont ruined these hopes, St. Paul's was determined to be second to beat us. The Paulies proved to be two-time losers, even though Andover played rather sloppy hockey, when they went down in defeat 2-1.

After defeating the Harvard Freshmen squad, the Blue team was confident that they could take Harvard's JV team as well. They did just that defeating the Crimson and former P.A. grad Chunky Kessler 4-3.

For the concluding two games, the Blue journeyed northward into rough hockey territory — New Hampshire. The first game was with the University of New Hampshire Freshman, a rough group of Canadians and natives of New Hampshire. Although Andover led until the third period, the game was forced into an overtime with the score at four all. It was Denny McCullough who finally shot the puck into the net to enable a tired and cold Blue team to head for the showers and home.

For the final game of the season against Exeter, the Andover team showed that it was second to none when playing as it should. Dominating the game from the start, the Blue disappointed over two hundred Exeter fans who stayed home to see their team play. The 6-3 victory for the Blue made the trip worthwhile for the buses of Andover spectators who journeyed to New Hampshire to see Andover play one of its best games of the season. It was an appropriate finish for three years of Varsity hockey for its star and Captain Jack Morrison and for one of Andover's finest hockey teams.

The Andover Basketball team, while showing great shooting ability and a lot of drive was again hindered by a lack of height. Hank Wilmer was the team's tallest player at 6'3". Also to further weaken the team Joe Belforti, the captain elect and only returning letterman from '62, was sidelined for the season by an ankle injury sustained during the football season. But in spite of these weaknesses, the Blue fought hard behind the driving of Pete Pappas and the shooting of L. E. Sawyer, Pete Eakland, Lower Jim Brenner, and Senior Prep Bill Ernstrom. Vic Petzy and Hank Wilmer were standouts in getting the Blue rebounds, and Glen Greenberg, Don Vermeil, Terry Rogers, Joe Rice, and Win Williams also turned in many good performances. As a result of his ability and enthusiasm Petzy was elected Captain to replace the sidelined Belforti.

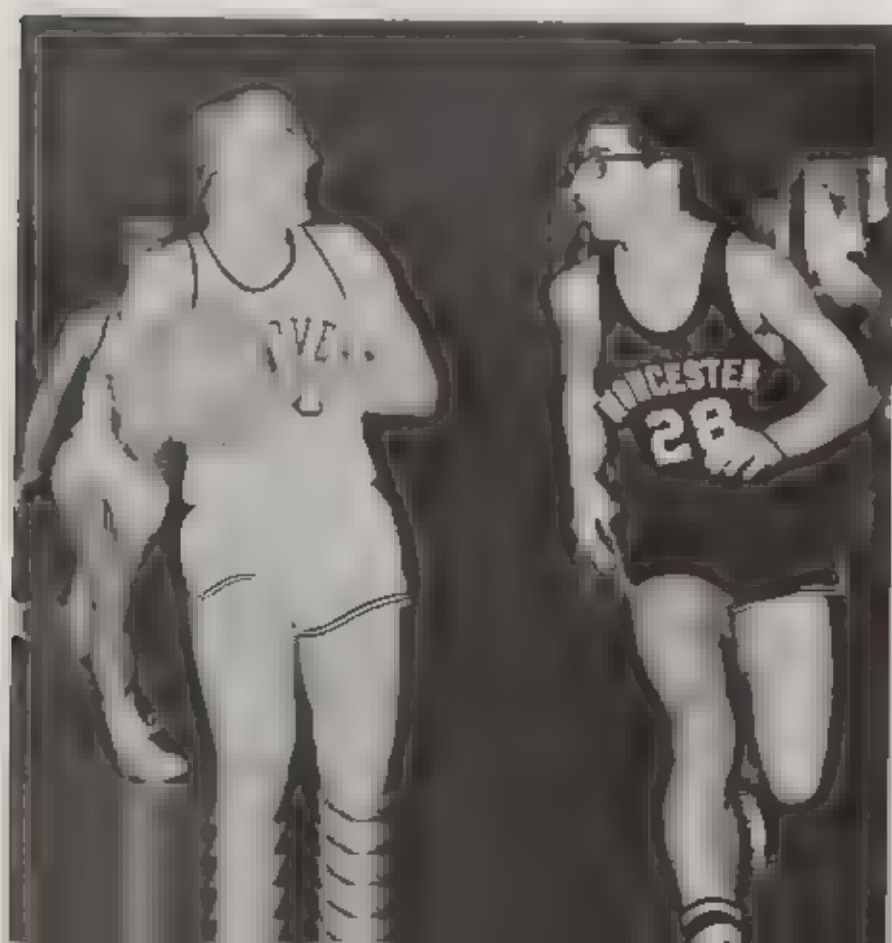

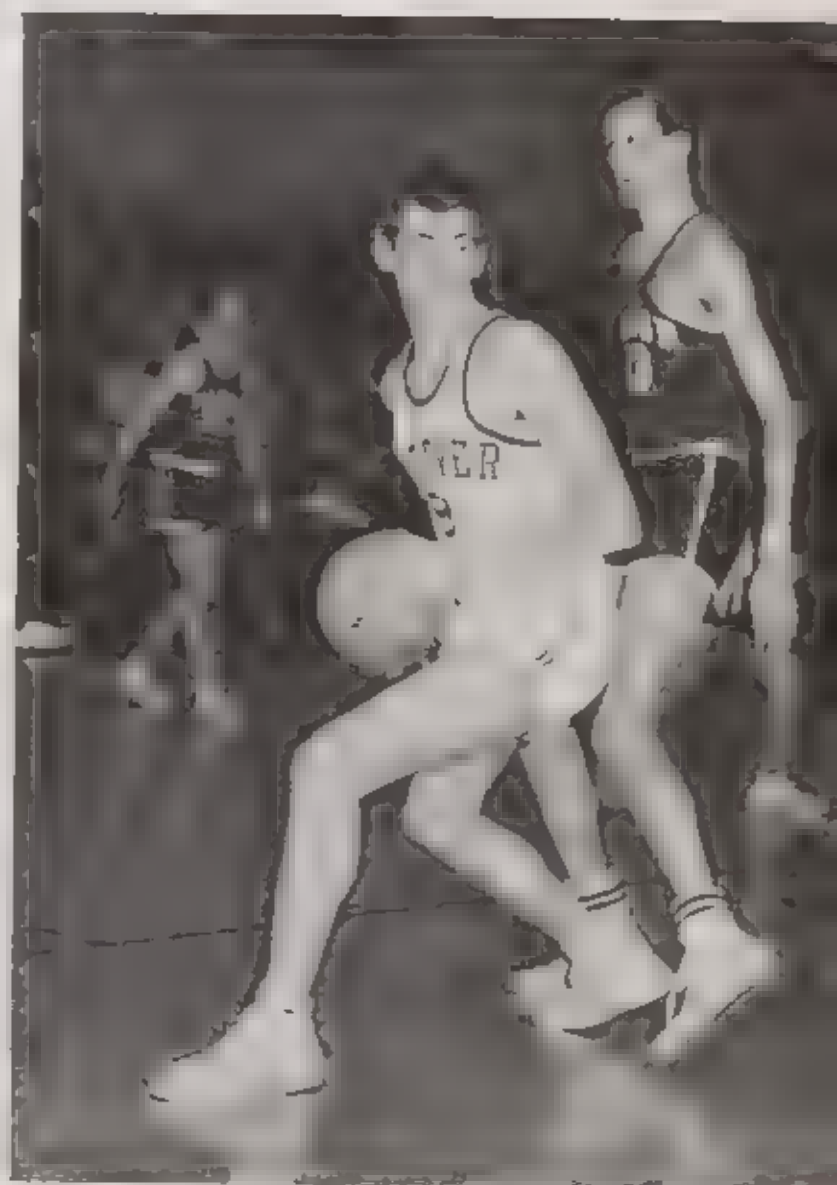

In the first half of the season the team was often paced by Jim Brenner. The Blue's first victory came after successive defeats suffered at the hands of strong Freshman teams from Bowdoin, Suffolk, and U.N.H. In the Tabor game Pete Pappas led Andover to a 67-57 victory with 22 points, with both Sawyer and Brenner scoring 14 points. Against the U.N.H. Frosh in the third game of the season Brenner and Win Williams led the Blue to within 6 points of victory, but couldn't come any closer as the Blue finally went down 63-56. With the spark from the Tabor victory still ignited, Andover again found the winning combination, this time against Deerfield. The smaller Blue squad consistently out-rebounded the larger Green and Vic Petzy completed a crucial three-point play late in the game to lead the Blue to a 63-60 victory. In this hard-earned victory Pappas, Petzy, Brenner, and Rogers all scored in double figures.

Next the Blue travelled to Exeter for its annual mid-season duel, and was greeted by a team averaging close to 6'4". The tall Exeter forward line proved to much to overcome and the Red won 95-58. The Dekemen then rebounded to a 62-38 victory over Mt. Hermon. The game turned into a rout in the second half with Pappas and Williams driving in for numerous layups. The whole Blue squad saw action. Showing great drive and hustle the Blue pulled in a total of 49 rebounds. The next five contests were with College Freshmen teams and the Blue could produce, only one victory. Even this game, against Tufts, turned out to be very close, but Sawyer, Pappas, and Petzy succeeded in pacing the Blue to their first victory over a Freshmen team. Against the Brown Frosh, undefeated when they came to Andover, Bill Ernstrom turned in a fine performance scoring 17 points, but that was not enough to avert a 80-41 loss. Although losing to Northeastern, Andover turned in its finest team effort of the season. Pete Eakland played his best game, and the Blue hit well from the foul line. The only factor preventing another Blue victory was the greater height and domination of the boards on the part of Northeastern. The other losses came at the hands of Harvard 92-55 and Amherst 81-52. In the next to last game of the season the Blue pulled out of its slump and beat Worcester Academy 90-76. The final game was of course with Exeter and again the Blue fell to the Red, this time by a score of 99-65. After the Exeter game Win Williams was elected Captain for next season.

SQUASH

When the 1963 squash team played its first match, a pre-season one against Harvard, the results were not portentous of an outstanding season; the squad lost to the Crimson, 6-1, with only Court Dixon winning. But as it turned out, the match was not at all indicative of the team's future, for, due to Mr. Hoitsma's excellent coaching, to the spirit that Captain Jim Brown inspired, and to the members hard-working determination, the final record was 9 wins, 3 losses.

After putting in a hard work-out every day after Christmas vacation, the racketmen travelled to M.I.T. and then to Choate, winning both matches 7-0. Then the work-outs doubled in anticipation of the Deerfield match which the Blue had never before won. But this was the year for victory as Brown, Badger, and Semple filling winning slots, and Hall, playing at the number three spot, won the deciding match in the fifth game, 16-15.

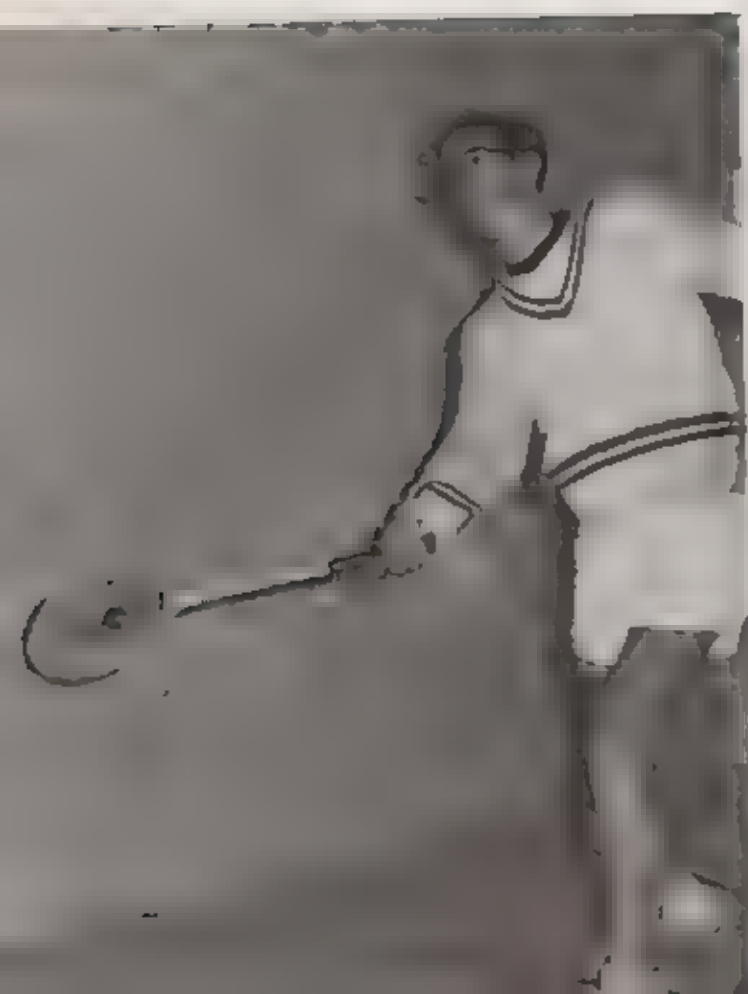

In the St. Paul's tourney, only Bob Stevens fell in the 4-1 win, but next, in the Brooks match, he romped through his opponent to decide the 3-2 Andover victory. Then, facing Exeter on the home courts, Dixon, Brown, and Gonzalez brought in another important 3-2 win, but the streak was soon ended by a 4-3 loss to Yale. The P.A. racketmen rebounded quickly, however, with a 5-0 victory over Middlesex and next proved their true mettle by winning 4-3 in the Harvard rematch.

After the team had stroked its way through Dartmouth, 7-0, only the final match against Exeter remained, and when the deciding match was lost in the fifth game, 17-14, the season was over. It was a hard way to end such an outstanding one, indeed the best that any Andover squash team has ever experienced, but the members of the team and Mr. Hoitsma should remember it for its excellence rather than its termination.

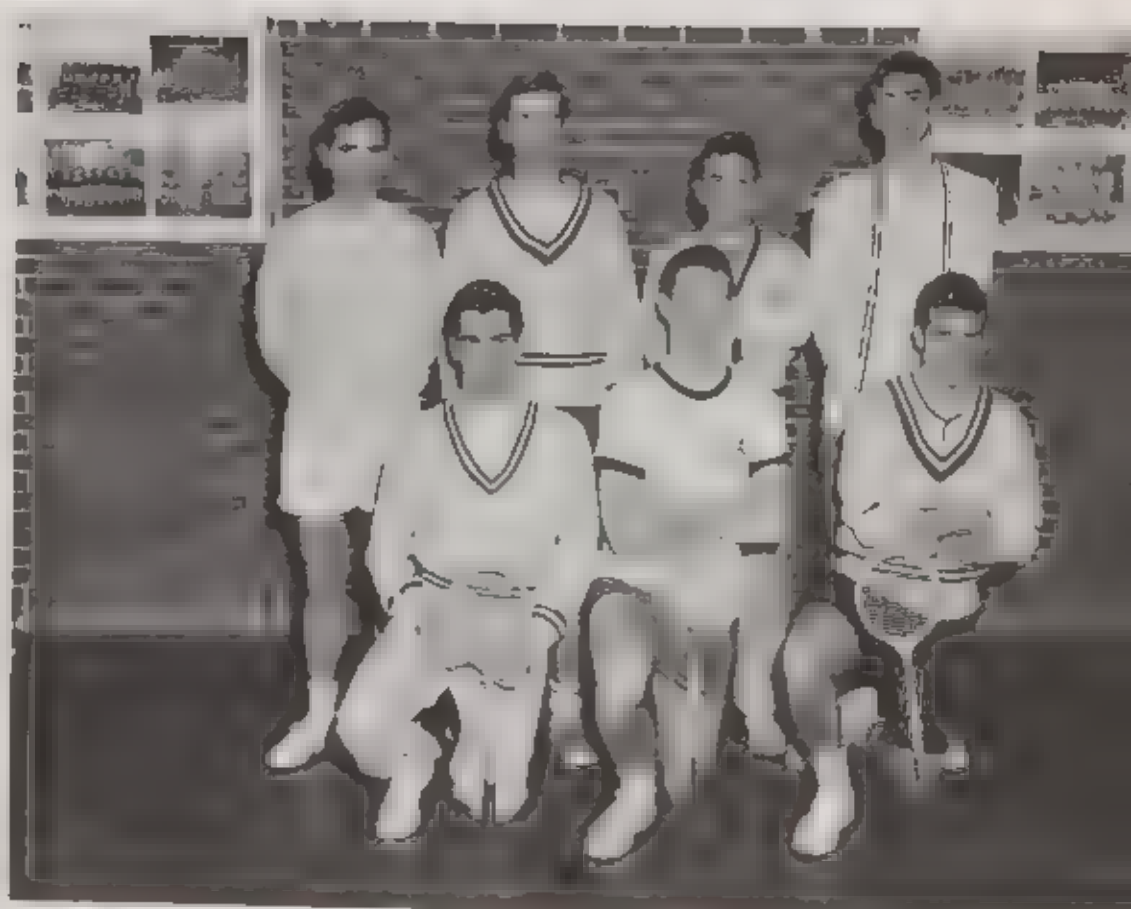

With only four seniors on the team this year, Captain Court Dixon can anticipate an equally good season. Dixon will return next year with Jose Gonzalez, Dan Badger, and Nat Semple to present a very powerful challenge to any opponent.

This year the Andover ski team compiled a mediocre record, winning only two of its six scheduled meets. Undoubtedly the record would have been much more impressive had it not been for an injury to Captain John Meck which kept him out for the greater part of the season.

The first meet of the season was at Holderness with Holderness, Andover and Gould competing and finishing in that order. Meck turned in the best performance of the day by winning the giant slalom and taking second in both the slalom and jump.

Next, Andover travelled to Saint Paul's for a Nordic duel meet, which was easily won with Mike Garvan and John Meck taking the cross-country and jump, respectively. The team then went to Kimball Union for a five school meet, where, due to only a fair showing in the Artic and Nordic events, Andover came in fourth overall. Then even without Meck, the Blue skiers showed tremendous improvement as they shussed over Wellesley High School here at Boston Hill. With fine performances by Fred Palmer, Van Hawn, and "Bear" Barnes, Andover took the first three places in the slalom and the first four places in the giant slalom. In the last two meets of the season, the team lost to Saint Paul's, but came in second at a four team meet at Dublin. At Dublin the team beat the Harvard and Yale Freshmen, but the Dublin team managed to win by four points.

Coach McKee is looking forward to next year's team, which will consist of five returning varsity men.

The 1963 wrestling team was one of P.A.'s better teams but the competition it faced was outstanding. The strength of the team lay in the middleweights Chip Nevius and Eric Chase. The lightweights, although the weaker end of the team, improved consistantly throughout the season. The heavyweights were weakened considerably shortly after the beginning of the season by the loss of Captain John Faggi. Tom O'Keefe, wrestling "unlimited" equally amused and impressed the spectators with his new wrestling style; he did exceptionally well for his first season, considering the tough competition he faced.

The season started slowly with a close loss to Mt. Pleasant High. Despite fine wrestling in the heavyweight classes, the Blue lost due to defeats in the lighter classes. Again the Blue fell, this time to Governor Dummer, and the match was marked by the only loss Chip Nevius suffered throughout the season. Andover's first win came in the Worcester Academy match in which Chip Nevius, Eric Chase, John Faggi, Mike Francisco, Jeff Grant, and Ed Quinby all won their matches.

Then after a loss to Milton the team next had a tense meet with Mt. Hermon which ended in a Blue victory. Mike Francisco, needing a pin to clinch the meet, wrestled well and achieved his goal half-way through the second period. In the Tabor Academy match, after nine bouts Andover led 23-14, but Tabor pulled ahead in the last two bouts to win 24-23. It was a heartbreaking defeat for the team, but it brought about a determination to win that was well shown in the next match.

In the last match before the Andover-Exeter meet, the P.A. team because of its great strength in the upper weight classes crushed Brown and Nichols. At the end of six bouts Andover was down ten points, but pins by Rocky Avery, Chip Nevius and Eric Chase put the Blue ahead and Bob Miller won the meet by pinning his man.

The season ended on a sad note, for once again Exeter had a powerful squad of wrestlers, and the hardfighting team fell. Eric Chase gave Andover its only pin of the day and Chip Nevius and Ed Quinby both won by decisions, making the tally 30-11.

Despite a season of four wins and five losses, the Andover swimming team was one of the strongest in recent years. Records were constantly broken throughout the season and good performances were consistently turned in by Captain Stu Davis, Hunter John, Bob Kelly, John Phillips, and Tim Mahoney.

Andover started the season by smashing Portland High School by a perfect score of 86-9. The mermen then sunk Worcester Academy 75-20. Both relays were won with last minute bursts by Bill Harker in the medley and Stu Davis in the freestyle. The Blue glided to a victory with Davis, Sartore, Pat Cathcart, Hunter John, Phillips and Mahoney winning their events.

The Blue then defeated Mount Hermon, 55-40. Andover won the 200 medley relay, Mahoney and Hunt swept the dive, and in the remaining six events the Blue took two firsts and two sweeps.

Bob Kelly led the only sweep of the day against Dartmouth Freshmen, setting the school record with 1:10 in the breaststroke. Despite Dartmouth records smashed in the 100 freestyle and the 100 backstroke, the Blue fought back hard, but lost by a score of only 48-47.

In a tense meet against Deerfield, Andover performed excellently but lost in the last event 51-44. Mahoney, Eubank, and Mike Cathcart took firsts in the meet.

After two close losses, the Blue swamped Brown Freshmen 67-28. Andover took five firsts, and swept four events. Outstanding performances were by Davis, Wendell John, Mahoney and Phillips. Andover again recorded some of its best times in a hard fought 59-36 loss to a powerful Williston team. Davis won the 200 yard freestyle, knocking 1.5 seconds off his best time; Pat Cathcart beat his best time in the 400 by three seconds and Bob Kelly again broke his own breastroke record.

Again the Blue was outclassed in a 61-34 loss to Harvard Freshmen. Tim Mahoney and Bill Hunt swept the dive. Kelly again lopped off .1 second from his best time in the breastroke but could only manage to take third.

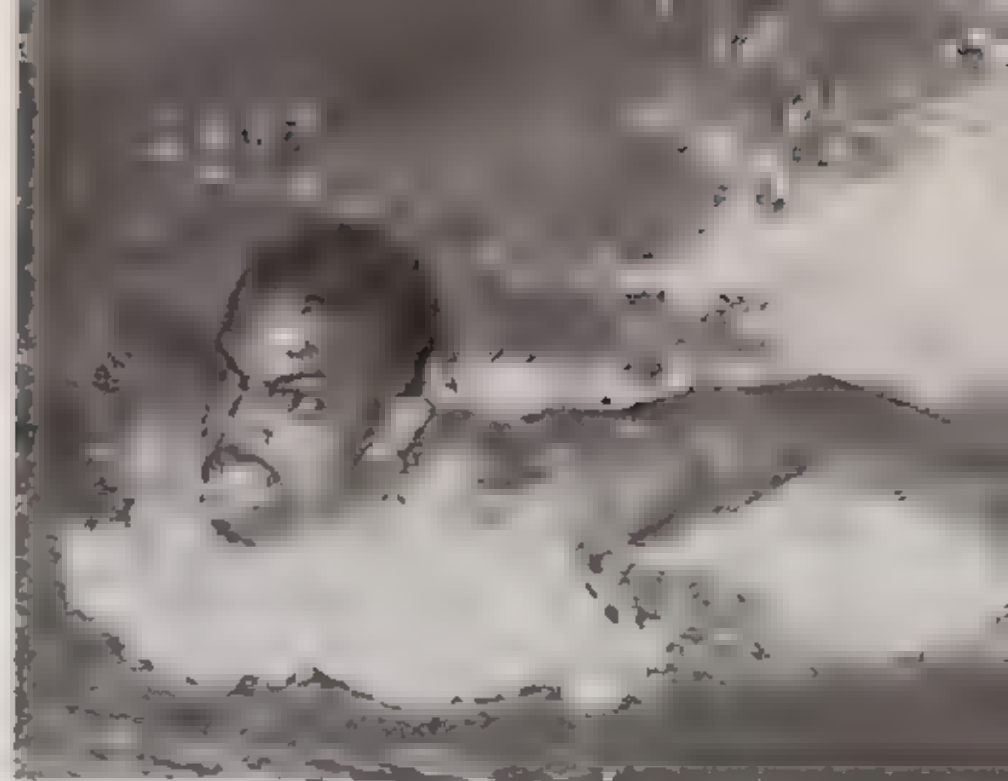

Performing much better than expected, the Blue fought to the last in a 55-40 loss to Exeter, as seventeen records fell in the most exciting meet of the season. Exeter took the medley relay setting an Andover-Exeter record of 1:47.4. Davis sparked with a 2:00.7 win in the 200. Exeter's Teaforde started in an Exeter individual medley sweep and later set a National Prep record in the breaststroke with 1:04.8 seconds. Mahoney starred once again when he and Bill Hunt swept the dive. Andover finished strong as John Phillips set an A-E record in a backstroke win and the Blue took the freestyle relay, breaking the school and Andover-Exeter record.

After the Exeter defeat, the Blue bounced back in the Interscholastics to place third, five points ahead of the Exies. Andover took three thirds, Tim Mahoney took first in the dive and the freestyle relay team won the most exciting race of the night breaking the school record.

With a relatively young team this season, Coach Wetmore can expect a great team next year with plenty of depth.

Although individual performances were good, the 1963 Winter Track team failed to produce a season that could be called great. The lack of greatness was due primarily to a lack of depth, a fault which became quite apparent in the Exeter meet.

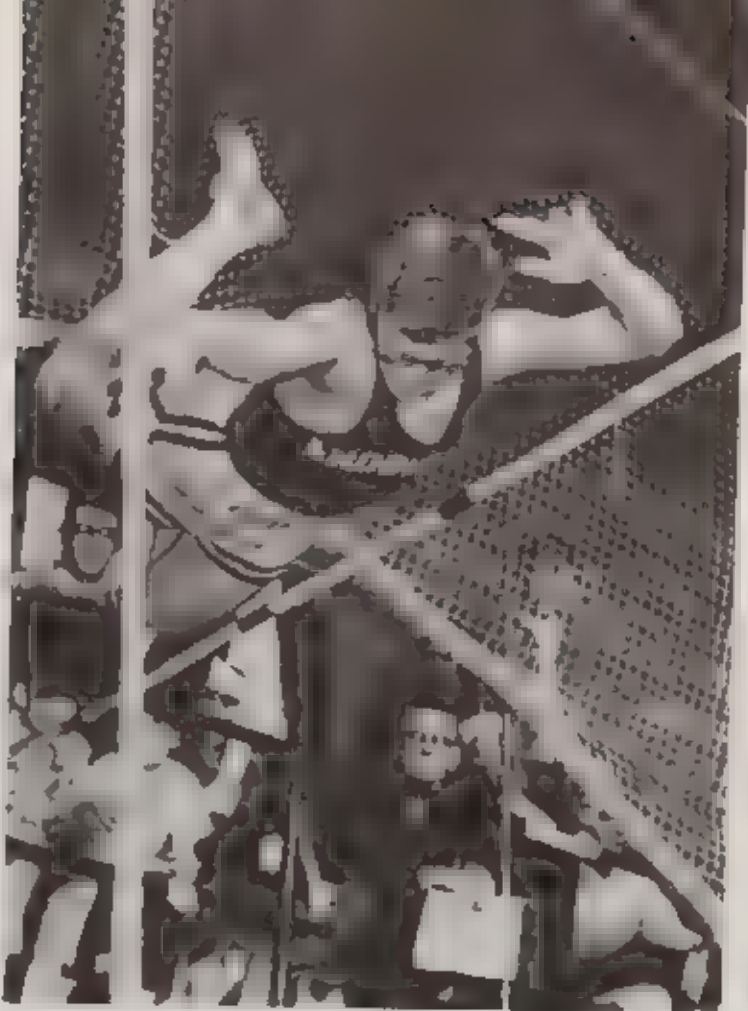

The track team's first meet of the year, against the New Hampshire Freshmen, saw four-event winner Andy Cahners, two-event winner Dick Howe, Joe McGirt, Frank Hekimian, Bruce Sorrie, and Captain Mike Kaiser spark the Blue team to swamp U.N.H. 82-31.

A week later, the Trackmen overcame Boston English and Boston Technical High Schools in a triangular meet. In the 1000, Bud Kellett of P.A. was the first to break the tape. The 600 featured Jeff Huvelle, who won easily with a 1:17. While Bruce Sorrie and Frank Hekimian were busy taking first places in the broad jump and shot put respectively, Andy Cahners won the high hurdles with a time of 5.9. Coach Sorota summarized, "It was an excellent performance from all the boys."

Undeclared, the Bluemen finally bowed to Harvard Freshmen. The best P.A. performance of the day was Andy Cahners in the low hurdles who set a new cage record of 5.5. Cahners also took a second in the high hurdles. Another cage record was broken that Friday afternoon as Walt Hewlett of the Yardmen turned in a 4:25.9 in the mile. Bud Kellett and Jeff Huvelle of Andover won the 1000 and 600 respectively, while Chris Pardee of Harvard won the broad jump and the high jump for the Freshmen. Winning only four firsts in thirteen events, the Bluemen were unable to defeat Harvard.

Two weeks later, Track gave way again, this time to Brown Frosh. Andover's first placers were Joe McGirt in the weight, Mike Kaiser in the high jump, and Jeff Huvelle in the 50 yard dash. The distance events, usually sure fire point getters for Andover, were won by Brown runners who managed to squeek out first place finishes over Bud Kellett in the 1000, Jeff Huvelle in the 600, and Dick Howe in the mile.

The Exeter meet, a tragedy for the Bluemen, was won by the Exies 73-8. Dave Rockwood and Jeff Huvelle were high scorers for Andover, each with three points. Dick Howe and Frank Hekimian each brought in one point, bringing the Blue's tally to a miserable eight points, even though some individuals had put forth their best performances.

BOXING

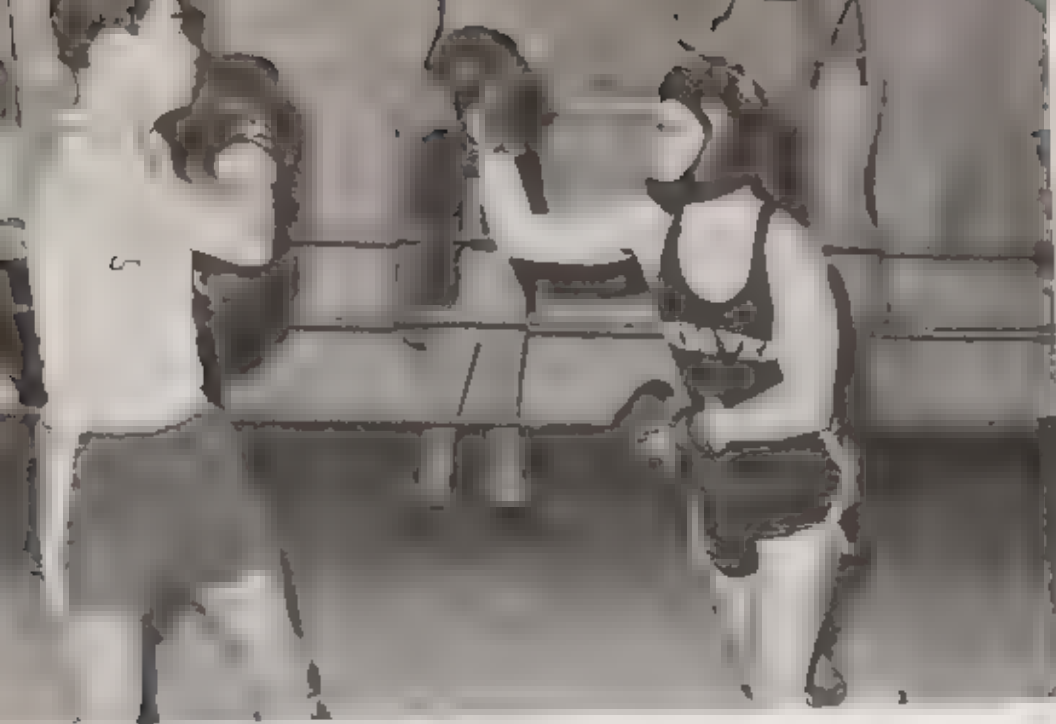

Front Mason Perry, Fletcher, Carpenter (Capt.), Bond, Burton, Phillips, Steuernagel Back Collins, Freeman, Dell Isola, Gang, Seligson, Parsons, Shane

For what was essentially a re-building season the Blue deserves a great deal of credit for the progress which it made. With only two returning lettermen, Don Carpenter and Bob Burton, Coach Mikula worked hard to get the team in shape for the first of two outside matches with St. Pauls. But shortly before the fight, Captain Carpenter was injured in a sled accident and lost for the season. This proved to be a tough blow and probably a contributing factor in a very close first match which the Mikmen lost $5\frac{1}{2}$ — $4\frac{1}{2}$. Preps Dave Mason, Joe Bond, and Carl Steuernagel showed great potential in earning three well-fought victories over their tough Paulie opponents. Upper Jack Collins and lower Joe Parsons both boxed well, recording a win and tie respectively.

Between the two outside matches, the Blue met for the first time LaSalle Academy of Providence. Coach Mikula was pleased to see a much improved Andover team take every match. Since LaSalle lacked middleweight contenders, the Blue held an intra-squad match in this class.

Competing were uppers Gang, Mason, Collins, and senior Steve Shane, the first two emerging victorious.

Under the leadership of Bob Burton, who as acting captain became the team's real motivating force, the Blue trained for revenge on St. Pauls. Despite marked progress, however, the Paulies proved to be a much greater power than anticipated, and on their home ground they took 6 and tied 2 matches, sending the Blue home with a 1-2 record for the season. The deciding factors were the slapping style of the Paulies and the very poor condition of St. Paul's undersized ring.

But the score did not tell everything about the Blue individual performances. Lower Bond, who produced Andover's sole decision, exhibited the finest form of the day, while Gang and Steurnagel showed tremendous improvement over their earlier appearances, and upper Joe Freeman in his first fight came through with a very promising performance. In all Coach Mikula, who awarded four letters, was optimistic about his next year's squad; with Captain Dave Gang and an experienced group of returnees, he looks forward to a very successful season next winter.

Andover's baseball team, coached by Mr. Harrison and sparked by Captain and center field slugger Dan Hootstein, emerged with a 8-6 season. First baseman Joe Belforti, one of the strongest hitters on the team, and Pitcher Denny Kloefer also helped the team to its victories.

The opening game confirmed the pre-season hopes of the squad, for Andover smashed the Northeastern Freshmen 12-5. Hootstein and Belforti led the Blue attack, with three hits each.

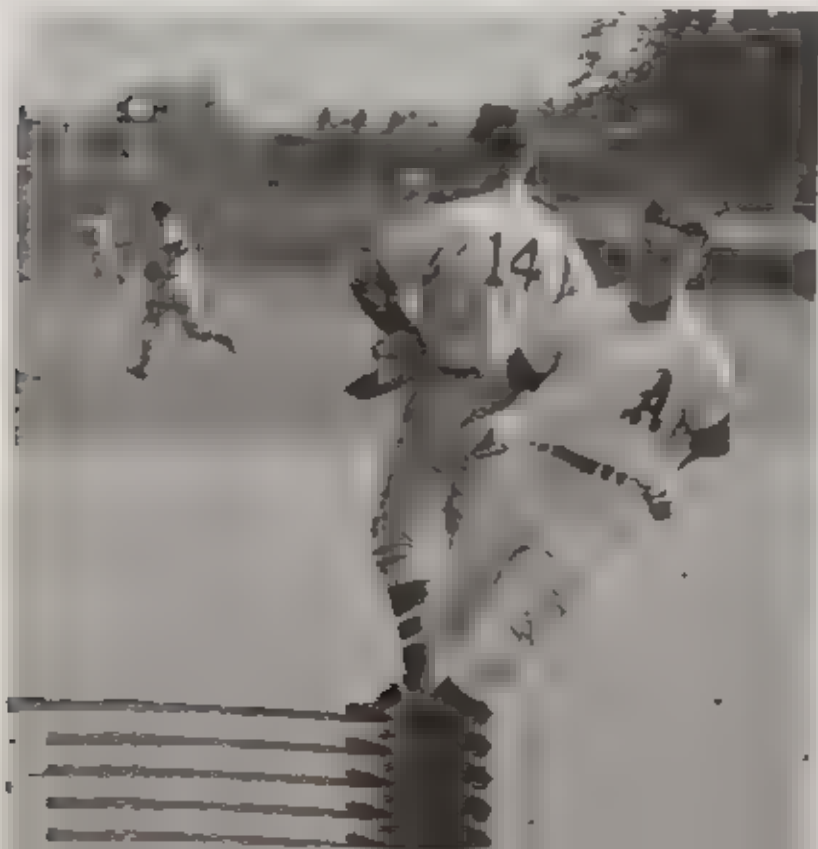

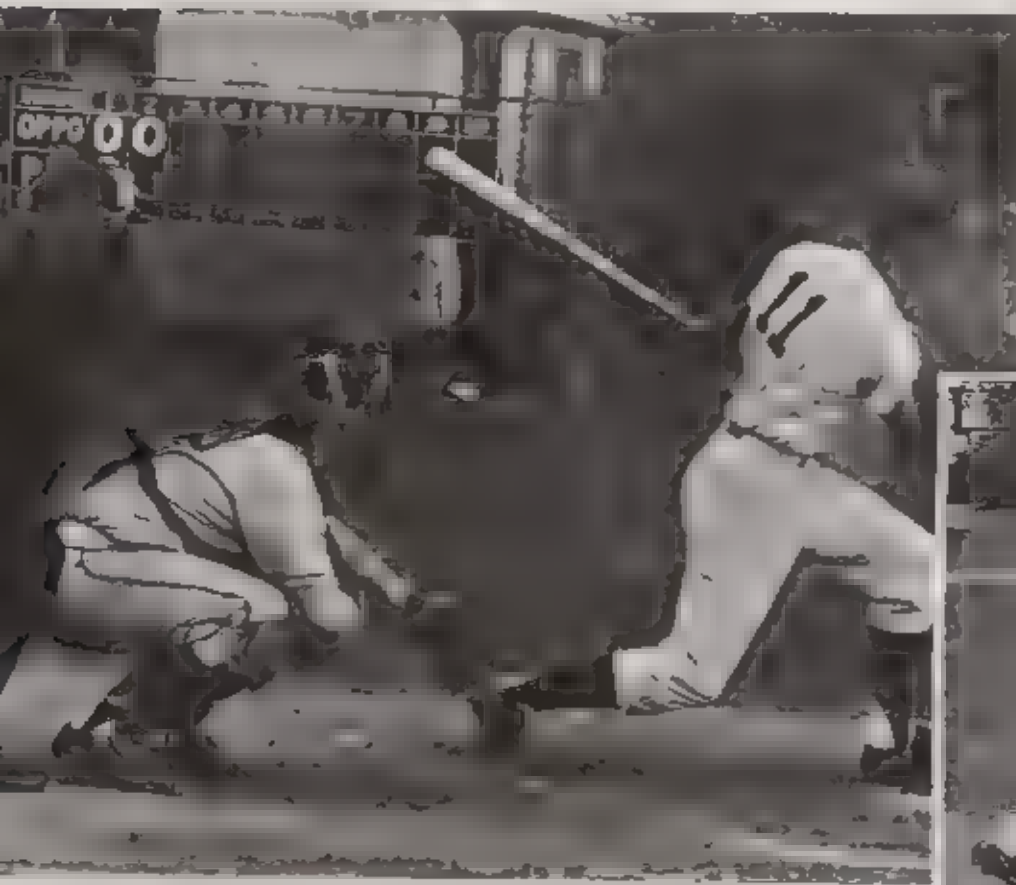

The following four losses were heartbreaks for P.A., for, being pitted against strong freshman clubs, the Blue lost three of the four games by three runs or less. In the Holy Cross game, hurler Kloefer fanned twelve batters, and gave Holy Cross only one run. However, the opposing pitcher gave Andover only three hits, and kept the score at 1-0.

The Blue lost to Brown, 9-1, despite Hootstein's fine hitting, which accounted for three of Andover's runs. In the next two games, against strong Yale and Harvard Freshman clubs, Andover lost, 7-4 and 5-4, respectively.

Encouraged by rallies in George Washington Hall, the team trounced M.I.T., 6-1. Lower pitcher Tom Bottonari threw a one-hit game, and Hootstein again starred at the plate, with three hits to his credit. The next game, with Deerfield, was a close one for the Blue, but Deerfield scored their winning run on a wild pitch to edge Andover 3-2.

The next five games went to Andover, the first of which was a strong 16-3 win over Tufts Freshmen. Belforti unloaded a tremendous drive down the left field line, and in two innings, the Blue scored ten runs. The team then won three more games by a wide margin. Pitchers Hank Wilmer and Denny Kloefer combined for a one-hitter against Boston English, while Denny McCullough led the P.A. batting by scoring or driving in five of the nine runs which Andover racked up in the 9-1 victory.

The team followed up with another victory, downing the University of New Hampshire Freshmen 9-2. The Blue scored in each of seven out of eight innings, getting hits off the U.N.H. pitching. The combined efforts of Hank Wilmer, Tom Bottanari, and Denny Kloefer allowed seven hits, yielding only two runs. In the next game, against the Dartmouth Freshmen, Joe Belforti came through with another big hit. His 375 foot home run was one of the twelve hits that Andover got off the Green. Denny Kloefer unloaded two hits, and scored off a long triple

The final game with Exeter saw the Blue bow to the Red 12-6. Playing at Exeter, Andover's fielding was plagued by errors, and the Blue wound up a season not excellent, but certainly worthy of praise.

At the beginning of the spring, there were many doubts about P.A.'s coming lacrosse season: the team had only four returning letterman and a small number of players with varsity experience. However, by the end of the season few people would doubt that this was one of the finest lacrosse teams that Andover has fielded in recent years.

The season's opener was against the Tufts Freshmen — usually a fairly weak opponent. Despite poor play themselves, the Blue players beat the inexperienced Frosh 16-4 with Mike Farrell and Scotty Weiss scoring three goals each.

The next game was against Governor Dummer, which had upset the Blue last year. Although again not playing as well as possible, Andover easily won 11-2, with Mike Farrell and Jerry Liles the high scorers.

The team continued its winning ways by defeating Tabor and the M.I.T. Frosh by scores of 8-4 and 10-0 respectively. Again, Weiss was high in the scoring column with four against Tabor. The defense did an outstanding job in both games, as is indicating by its holding M.I.T. scoreless.

Next the Blue traveled to Mount Herman — the toughest opponents to date. Andover jumped to an early lead which it held to win the game 7-4. And as a warmup for the coming Deerfield contest, the team trounced the U.N.H. Frosh 16-1.

Against Deerfield, the Blue team was down 4-3 at the half, but due to its superior defense it was able to monopolize play throughout the second half. When the final whistle blew, however, the score was a 5-5 tie. In the first overtime period the ball was completely controlled by Andover, but they couldn't score; in the second overtime, Deerfield scored on a fast break and won 6-5. This was the best game of the season for the Andover laxmen, with Dan Warren and Jerry Liles starring.

The team bounced back by amassing 23 goals in defeating the Holy Cross and Brown Frosh. Dan Warren and Jerry Liles were outstanding in these encounters. After a loss to Harvard, the team started looking forward to Exeter by beating St. Paul's 10-7 and the Dartmouth Frosh 9-7.

Next the Blue traveled north for the Exeter game. Due to Dick Reynolds' superb goaltending, Exeter was behind for the entire game, but they managed to tie it up in the last period, and in the second overtime they scored and won by a score of 9-8.

The success of this year's team was largely due to its tremendous spirit, which was initiated by Captain Rog Farrar and Coaches Hulburd and Pyncheon. If this spirit can continue next year, with the greater part of this year's team returning, the season should be an outstanding one for Andover lacrosse.

The Andover tennis team, in one of the best records ever turned in by a group of P.A. netmen, lost only one match this spring. This loss, to the Harvard freshmen, was closely fought, and the team played well, barely succumbing to Harvard's experience. Jose Gonzalez was not beaten during the season, and he was often the strong point which enabled the team to defeat the generally stronger freshman teams.

The Blue won the first match of the season against the M.I.T. Freshmen, 7-2. Captain Jack Morrison started the match and the season off right by taking his opponent in straight sets: 6-1, 6-3. This example was followed by all the rest of the singles players except Steve Devereux who, in a very hard fought match, lost 9-7, 11-9. On April 20 the Blue defeated the Brown Freshmen 6-4. The point of highest interest came when Steve Devereux defeated the second ranked Junior in New England in what was called "some of the finest tennis ever played in interscholastic matches." Jose Gonzalez kept his winning streak by defeating a high ranked player from Georgia.

On April 24 the Blue suffered its only loss of the season to the Harvard Freshmen, 5-3. The Blue lost four of the six singles matches, and the doubles matches were split, one for each team; then the match was called because of darkness. On May 1 the team beat St. Paul's 6-3, and won five of the six singles and one doubles match for the 6-3 victory. On May 4 the Dartmouth Frosh were fed into the Victory machine and promptly came out stamped with a Blue 5-0. Five singles matches had been played when it began raining.

May 8 brought the Blue victory over Deerfield, 5-1. Jose had a little trouble in his match, but pulled it out to win in three sets: 6-1, 4-6, 6-2. On May 15 the netmen faced Milton Academy and beat them 8½-1½. There were six love sets, but one doubles match was tied when a set was dropped in the odd two set matches played by Milton. In the closest match of the season the Exies tried to carry their victories over the Blue into tennis but were stopped 5-4. With over a hundred people watching, the Blue was down a match until Tim Bingham won in three sets to tie the score. Gonzalez also went to three sets but finally won. At the end of the match, with the score tied, Devereux and Tottenham began playing the decisive match. They won the first set 6-4, but the Exie pair came back to take the second 7-5. Devereux and Tottenham quickly regained their poise and won the match with a 6-1 score in the third set.

CREW

On its return trip from the Royal Henley Regatta in England, the Andover crew, influenced by the Russian victories at Henley and Philadelphia, decided to change its style to that of the Bolshevicks. The fall was spent practicing and modifying the new stroke to make it natural for the new members of the crew as well as the five returnees.

The spring season began with a journey to M.I.T. where the crew beat the two freshman light crews. In the next race, the Blue swept past Springfield Tech by fourteen lengths, and then turned to face the seemingly omnipotent Kent crew. There the oarsmen registered their first loss of the season, falling by two lengths, most of which Kent had gained in its start. On the following Saturday the Blue lost to Tabor by three fourths of a length.

Annoyed by the apparent sloppiness of the Tabor crew and convinced that the Blue had rowed a good race except for the first quarter mile, the crew decided to modify the stroke more towards the American style. Only two days later they easily beat Trinity Frosh by four lengths, and after three more days fell to Dartmouth Varsity Lights by less than two feet. Facing another college crew the next week, the varsity lost to the Harvard Frosh Second Heavies by two lengths. But the new style was now well coordinated, and in the next two races, St. Paul's and Union Boat Club, Andover was victorious by two and one lengths respectively.

The following Saturday the oarsmen travelled to the Intercholastic Schoolboy Regatta in Worcester where once again they placed second to the quick starting Kent crew.

Throughout the whole year of experimenting the Andover crew never lost its spirit, and each defeat was answered by even more determination to win. Only this effort and the willingness to sacrifice the win-loss record made the season successful, and gave future Andover crews a great style.

There was but one thought pervading the track team this spring: avenge the humiliation of winter track by Exeter. While some of the other PA teams showed great promise, the track team was labelled one having a few stars and nothing more. Clearly the one thing to mark the season a success was a total team effort. Huvelle, Cahners, Hekimian, Kellet, Kaiser, and Yamada, all came through with predicted victories over Northeastern, but added pleasant surprises came with a sweep of the hammer and also a first place in the pole vault.

The Blue, not expecting such strength in the usually weak freshman team, fell to Brown, but Andy Cahners started with a school record in the 120 yard high hurdles, a second in the lows, and another first in the 100 yard dash. At Dartmouth the team lost 64-62, and once again the same group of Andover stars compiled many points. But again the score would never have been so close had it not been for an outstanding team effort.

Next at a tri-meet with M.I.T. and Tufts the Blue triumphed. Winning six of fourteen firsts produced part of the success, but the victory tribute goes equally to those who won the 21 seconds and thirds. The final score was P.A. 86, M.I.T. 46, and Tufts 21. Then, sweeping the javelin, pole vault, and high jump against Holy Cross, P.A. fell just five points short of victory. Harvard, with many ex-P.A. stars, exhibited its usual towering strength, but a solid victory by the Crimson had been expected. The one really important meet of the season was all that was left when the guillotine began cutting the stars: Cahners, Green, and Yamada were injured, and Kellet was sick.

But even without these top men, the Blue started well in the meet, and everyone turned in in his best prformance of the year. Special mention should go to Dave Rockwood, who took first in the high hurdles, and Frank Hekemian, who also won first place in the shot put with 54'8 1/2". But soon the depletion of the ranks became evident, and Exeter caught up and pulled ahead to win.

However, the loss to the One Year Red was hardly shameful, for competing with its ex-high school greats would be a task for any team. The one important result of the Exeter meet was the proof given of what a truly great team this year's spring track team was; so great it was that it could turn in a creditable performance even when it lacked four of its prime point winners.

GOLF

Front Weinberger, Rogers (Capt.), Binns Back Neill, McChesney, Parsons, Gurry

Before the start of the 1963 golf season, the line-up looked strong. Through the first half of the season, this prediction held true as the Blue downed Harvard Freshmen and Mount Hermon, revenging last year's losses. This was due to the expected strong play of Captain Terry Rogers, Mel Weinberger, Jim Binns, Chris Gurry, and Joe Parsons.

Problems soon set in. "Tony" cracked a contact, "Tobacco Stu" Reed became inaccessible, and "the Arn" ran into problems with the predatory sex. Up from the ranks came Stanley "Rat" Neill, "Killer" Kane, and Albert Farrah to register important victories over M.I.T., Andover's last team win.

Although Andover failed to defend their Tri-meet title by coming in second to Exeter, they finished the match play schedule with a 3-3 record. Mount Hermon fell 15-3 at Andover Country Club, with Weinberger, Parsons, and Reed winning 3-0, and Rogers, Binns, and Gurry winning 2-1. The Harvard match was decided by Jim Binns' clutch victory on the 19th hole. Yale, sparked by alumni Brent Mohr and ex-captain Bill McKee, handed the Blue their first match play defeat, by a score of 5-2. The team bounced back with a resounding 6-1 victory over M.I.T. Dartmouth playing on their own tricky course, upset the Blue by squeaking out a 4-3 victory.

In the final match of the year, the Blue failed to revenge Exeter's earlier victory. Exeter came out on the top end of a 6-3 decision. Andover played its best golf of the year with five out of six breaking 80, led by Joe Parsons' 73. However, Exeter was even better, led by Captain Charlie McDowell's record breaking 64, which included 6 straight birdies the front nine.

Despite this year's record, the outlook for next year is good. Returning are Mel Weinberger, the #1 man for the last two years, Joe Parsons, who went undefeated in six matches this year, and Chris Gurry, the #4 man.

The 1963 Pot Pourri is synonomous with the name Raben, for it was due to him and the strength of the dictatorship which he established that this year's book is better than and therefore different from all those in the past. John Raben, as Editor-in-Chief, accomplished something that no one previously could: unity of style. Every earlier book has had at least one flaw; it was either the quality of its layout, photography, art, or literature. Indeed, some publications were outstanding in one of these areas, but the excellence of each was destroyed by its weakness.

This year Raben oversaw every part of the book, insisting on perfection without compromise — such is the result. This is not to say, of course, that the Editor-in-Chief alone produced this year's publication. Jack Kessler as Business Manager coped with the usual Spring Term financial panic with unusual dexterity. Circulation Manager John Mahaffay sold a record number of books to subscribers. John Harwood, Literary Editor, managed to turn in fifty literary masterpieces, somehow wrung out of the student body, and at times tried to do some layout, much to Raben's dismay. Lou Lower, Executive Editor, devoted most of his life between Flagstaff Court and the Humming Section in Evans Hall to bolstering the art and layout efforts, while Matt Mandel, Senior Editor, produced satisfactory senior and faculty sections.

But no review — unbiased, of course — could possibly ignore the results of the Photographic Editors, John Hayes and Sandy Trevor. The pictures may have been fairly sparse, but when the proofs were finally turned in, their quality and clarity were outstanding. Finally, in the department of "visual aids," no book could not have asked for a better artist than Jeff MacNelly, who drew many remarkable cartoons.

Need more be said? The Pot Pourri for 1963 is great!

The Phillipian this year was noted for its two driving forces: the fear of bankruptcy, and the desire to improve and wake up the school community. But, besides a series of often necessarily critical editorials, and another series of equally necessary two-page issues, the '62-'63 Phillipian was co-sponsor of the much-praised Senior Projects plan and was responsible for the largest Phillipian in the history of the school, the 18-page issue honoring the graduation of the class of 1962.

The Phillipian would like to thank the Pot Pourri for giving it this opportunity to make a report to smirking Business Managers of rival publications like the Mirror, NELM, and the Exonian, all of whom watched us stumble through the Winter term with happy grins. We broke even. We hung on by the skin of Bob Burton's red-ink-stained teeth.

This year's board is sorry about the organization of this year's disorganization. Last year the Phillipian wrote a quite humorous piece for the Pot Pourri about the disorganization of its organization. This year we were completely organized, because after long and diligent research, we came up with a system — the Jim Brown-will-do-it approach. Luckily his position, News Director, was sufficiently vague so that anything (often everything) could be rationalized as being a part of his job. This approach worked quite efficiently throughout the year although it was equally as efficient in removing Jim from the Honor Roll. But, then, nobody but a Burton could show up at every meeting and still stay on the Roll.

The number of meetings necessary to put together one Phillipian is ridiculous, especially when everybody knows Jim Brown will do it, anyway. The week starts Tuesday, with an assignment meeting for the editorial staff. Thursday, at the dinner meeting, President Kusterer raves and rants about the previous week's issue and ends the meeting with instructions to read more of the New York Times (West Coast Edition, of course). At the Friday dinner meeting, the Business Board takes the same gas from the Business Manager. Saturday is the deadline for ad copy, and the meeting with Mr. Basford, the faculty advisor. Sunday afternoon, articles are edited, headlines are written, the paper is first put together, and heelers are sent to the Coffee Mill. Monday night the printer's proofs are corrected, the paper is laid out, and heelers are sent to the Coffee Mill. Tuesday the Senior staff members oversee the printing of the paper. The paper put together, the editors go home for a two hour nap before the Tuesday night assignment meeting. Tuesday is also the day the circulation board starts work, and for two days they fold, collate, mail, and throw away 2000 newspapers. The last meeting of the week is the Thursday morning class with Mr. James, at which the President can stop worrying about unheard-of Platt Amendments for a minute and try to mumble out some reply to the latest loaded question.

Middle: Garvan, Pechter, Raymond, O'Keefe, Fry, Roehrig, Hight. Back: McIlroy, Damon, Rounds, Lee, Marvin, Miller.

For the Mirror, 1962-63 was a year of vulgarization. In the last four years, the feeling had arisen in both the student body and the faculty that the Mirror was the product of a small, select group of the literary elite which turned out stereotyped studies in depression and pseudo-intellectualism. It was felt that both the producers and the products of the Mirror represented only a small segment of the student body and its attitudes. From the outset, then, Pete Johnson and the literary board decided to eliminate this feeling and the lack of student support resulting from it. The board doubled the size of its issue, and opened the Mirror up to new names and, hopefully, new attitudes. The results varied from excellent to mediocre, but the goal was effectively accomplished, as names never before connected with literary genius appeared, and with them came refreshing optimistic outlooks.

N E L M

Front: Heist, Pechter, Damon (Editor), Gardner, Garvan. Back: McIlroy, Mathes, Johnson, Hight, Mitchell.

In 1963 NELM finally made its way into the national spotlight. After full length articles about Editor Bill Damon and his publication appeared in Northeast 63 and The Independant Schools' Journal, Damon was swamped with letters and telegrams from, among others, Time, Life, and The Atlantic Monthly. In all, forty-two New England prep schools sent literature and art this year to NELM.

All the literature planned for the two NELM issues of 1963 was consolidated into one double edition "because of excessive mailing charges brought on by the Kennedy Administration." NELM's severely critical standards resulted in only thirteen of the forty-two schools being represented in the magazine.

The major decision of the year was not to print the world's first unexpurgated copy of Moby Reltney, P.A.'s senior class play. As General Manager Ed Gardner said, "We remembered just in time that we were mailing across state lines." Gardner later added, "If God had meant for man to go to the moon, he would have put him there."

The NELM year ended successfully with a rave review by Pete Johnson in the Phillipian. Said Pete, "It sure beats the Mirror!"

PHILLIPS SOCIETY

Sitting: Stableford, Garvan, Clapp, Bilheimer. Standing: Frenzel, Cooke, Farrell, Hooker, Boxer, Rapson, Sawyer, Faggi, Taylor, Turner.

Led and managed by President Dick Clapp, the seven committees of the Phillips Society worked during the year to perform a variety of jobs around campus. The goal of the Society is to share among individuals the responsibility of holding up the school's high position in the community; in this, it had a very successful year.

Since it does its work on an individual basis, the efforts of the Society were often taken for granted, but they added up to a considerable contribution to the service of the school. Members welcomed visiting teams and served them refreshments, obtained books and assignments for boys in the Infirmary, served coffee on Sundays at Graham House, and showed prospective students around campus. John Faggi's Charities Drive Committee raised $5,200 for distribution to various charities; Lee Sawyer's Communities

Service Committee taught Sunday School, entertained boys from the Perkins Institute, and visited the State Hospital at Danvers.

Among the officers there was marked division between the workers and the hangers-on. Clapp worked constantly, coordinating the activities of the different committees and acting as liaison between the Society and faculty members; working especially close with faculty advisor Mr. Pease, Johnny Bilheimer kept the books for Faggi and the charities. On the other hand, Mike Garvan as Vice-President had no opportunity to take over for Clapp; Jon Stableford also had little to do after the Secretary's duties were officially abolished.

All in all the Society had an extremely good year, due entirely to the conscientious hard work of each of its 170 members.

STUDENT CONGRESS

*Front: Clapp (V. Pres.),
Hall (Pres.). Back: Liles
(Sec.), Vermeil (Treas.).*

The Student Congress in both sessions this year tried to overcome the problems of organization, communication, and program, which have hindered Congresses of the past. The plan to amass and organize the minutes and documents of the past for future reference will give Congress investigation more depth. The faculty liaison plan will cut down the processing time for a student proposal by two weeks. Elections of class officers will become a constitutional matter and will not be carried on in the make-shift manner of the past.

All this merely bettered the machinery of the Congress; the real job was expanding its scope by examining the past and setting goals for the future. Working towards closer cooperation with the faculty in the performance of their mutual responsibilities, it has found at least one area which can be exploited in joint committees next year. The Congress also found a unique opportunity in helping the school community adapt to the new facilities of the Andover program; and, in its role as supporter of extra-curricular activities, it can continue this role next year as the school expands even more into the basement of Evans Hall and elsewhere.

An example of the Congress' activities this past year is the movie situation. First, when the school was forced into two showings in Kemper Auditorium, the Congress helped set up the gym program as an alternative and later established a committee to work for better movies. This expanded to a group working with the faculty towards a better-controlled one-showing system. A similar expansion occurred in social functions where the congress scheduled dances, ran one tea dance, and held more Graham House dances than ever before.

But perhaps the greatest achievement was the establishment of the Independent Study Program which fostered wholly independent study along personal lines this spring and which is expanding next year into a program which includes a creative writing seminar. This may well mark a milestone in education.

The Congress again ended the year looking hopefully towards next year, not in the belief that it couldn't be worse but rather that it will be even better. The real problem lies in the morale of the Congress and in the finesse of the leadership. The enthusiasm will be there and if it is channelled into a study of procedure and the Constitution and into constructive thinking, the Congress will continue upwards.

Under the leadership of President Babcock MacLean, Vice-President Laurent Alpert, Secretary Bryce Muir, and Treasurer Jim Frenzel, forty enthusiastic and skilled debators worked together to give PNYX a most successful third year of operation.

In the fall term PNYX presented to the students ten formal debates on school, national, and international topics. They ranged from the serious, "Adolph Eichmann was tried illegally" and "Federal troops should not be used in integration crises" to the sublime, "The faculty should have an eight o'clock sign-in". There was an active training group which met weekly for new debators. The term was highlighted by a debate with Abbot, "Resolved: Abbot girls should be allowed to go to the Saturday night movies".

In addition to ten more regular debates, the Winter term included an open forum on The Phillipian, a PNYX-Philo victory over Mt. Herman in "Resolved: the federal government should provide bomb shelters for all citizens", and the establishment by PNYX of a Sunday afternoon training group with Abbot.

During Christmas vacation a PNYX team took third place in the Columbia University Invitational High School Tournament. In the Spring term, two of the most popular of the several debates were "Resolved: Professional Boxing should be illegalized" and "Andover fails to teach the business of living". A PNYX-Philo team defeated Exeter at Andover, and PNYX's year was completed by the Robinson Prize Debate and a debate with Dana Hall, "Resolved: Modern man is unromantic".

PHILO

President Lou Wiley, assisted by fellow officers Seth Mydans, Colin Campbell, Bob Burton, and Bob McIlroy, led the Philomathean Society through a tremendously active year that was sprinkled with popular special presentations. The Fall Term started off with a tongue-in-cheek debate — "Resolved Sunday Schools are corrupting our nation's youth," followed by four other major debates, highlighted by a fierce encounter between Will Hall and Rockwell House and a tense open debate during the Cuban Crisis.

The Winter Term saw P.A.'s most popular debate in which three hundred students watched Philo challenge the Teaching Fellows, who successfully took the negative side of "Resolved the life of a teacher is the only life for me." Later, Philo fell to a fighting group of Abbotines who proved conclusively that "A mother is a boy's best friend." The term ended with Philo's first victory over Roxbury Latin in many years and with a special debate by the Presidents of Philo and Pnyx who downed a Mount Hermon team.

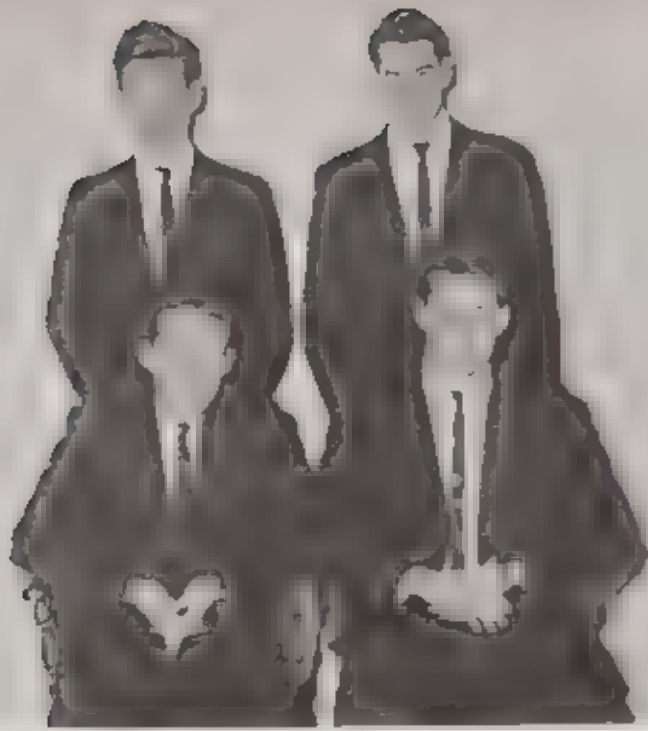

Sitting: Wiley, Mydans. Standing: Burton, McIlroy

The Spring Term began with a pair of hard fought debates against Exeter which ended in draws. Then came the Philo Training Group Tournament and the Robinson Prize Debate. Elections saw a brand new set of officers take over for a vigorous 1963-1964 as the present year ended with the ever popular steak picnic.

In retrospect, Philo enjoyed one of its most successful years: special debates augmented the forums and a dozen club debates; The Philo Review operated on a regular, year-long basis as did the Philo Training Group. Philo, celebrating its 138th anniversary, continued to maintain its position of honor and leadership in the school community.

FORUM

Forum this year continued to stimulate student interest in controversial subjects as its third year proved successful. Under the able leadership of John Eichleay, President; Don Engvall, Vice-president; Steve Calderwood, Treasurer; and Randy Bourne, Secretary, Andover's only Political Affairs Society succeeded in dispelling some of Andover's legendary student apathy.

Although Forum was often hindered by a lack of attendance at its meetings, the students that did appear usually gave the speakers a thorough going-over in the question-and-answer period that followed every talk. Two visitors who received a particularly vigorous interrogation from their audiences were an official of the A.F.L.-C.I.O. who advocated a thirty-five hour work week and a representative of Turn Toward Peace, a

ASIA SOCIETY

Tony Obst and the other board members determined to make this year's Asia Society a more informed group about the culture and politics of the Asian nations. In the fall term several movies were shown concerning Japan and India. In the winter term the members heard a student lecture on a trip to Indonesia and saw the famous documentary film: "Assignment India".

However, the Asia Society's greatest achievement of the year was the initiation of the Henry L. Stimson Lectures. The idea was born early in the winter term. For the remainder of it the board members, led by Tony and Mr. Royce, worked hard setting dates, writing to speakers, and publicizing the forthcoming lectures.

PRESS CLUB

The first problem that confronted the Press Club this year was who was going to lead the group. After a brief period of confusion, the newsmen finally elected Skipper Lee, John Kane, and Terry Rogers as President, Vice President, and Secretary respectively.

Besides trying to give Andover the same amount of space that Exeter was getting in the papers, and sending in the regular reports on P.A. athletic contests, the Club devoted much of its time in the fall term to the Andover-Exeter football program. pacifist organization, who advocated total disarmament.

One of the highlights of the year was the fall assembly appearance during the Cuban crisis of Harvard professor and senatorial candidate Stuart Hughes, an outspoken pacifist and one of the few people in the country to publicly criticize President Kennedy's Cuban stand. Mr. Hughes was soundly defeated by the more conservative Teddy Kennedy in the November election. Another highlight occurred in the fall term when Forum presented opposing speakers on birth control, one a Catholic priest and one a representative from Planned Parenthood, an agency to disseminate birth control information. These speakers both drew large crowds of speakers, always eager to keep up with the latest development in social problems.

Forum also presented other movies and speakers, in concluding its year.

The lectures' purpose was to inform the student body, free of charge, about Asia by inviting distinguished experts to speak. Leaflets were printed and circulated throughout the school and the Andover vicinity.

Four speakers accepted the invitation to speak this year. Dr. Allen Cole of Tufts' Fletcher School of International Affairs and Diplomacy, and Mrs. Lily Shang who teaches a few P.A. boys Chinese once a week, spoke in the winter term. Dr. Cole spoke on "Communist China and her Asian neighbors" and Mrs. Shang lectured and demonstrated about "The Chinese Theater". Both lectures were well attended. The members of the Society are indeed proud that the memory of Col. Stimson, who was long interested in Asian affairs, has been so well honored.

Front: Morgan, Emory, Obst (Pres.), Gordon. Back: McChesney, Miller, Wright, Bissell.

Club put out a coherent preview of the game, well supplied with photographs. Several firsts were incorporated into this edition, including an introductory article by the New York Times' Michael Strauss and a description of college athletics by Mike Bassett, a former P.A. athlete and now Harvard star. The members were particularly proud of their prediction for the big game: "a toss-up."

During the winter and spring term, time was devoted to feature articles on particularly able Andover athletes, and these were published in the athletes' hometown newspapers.

At the end of the year, the members expressed their satisfaction with the way things had been run by re-electing Lee as President.

FRENCH CLUB

Paralleling events in France, the French Club enjoyed a most successful year. Not to be outdone by le grand Charles, the French and German Clubs held a Franco-German Tea Dance early in the Fall Term. The Club enjoyed a full program of weekly meetings featuring speakers or short films and refreshments which, while not always French, were very inviting after Commons food. The year's program was high-lighted with feature-length films open to the entire school: waiting with baited breath, two hundred boys were surprised to discover that "La Belle Americane" was a car; but a term later were pleased to learn that "La Parisienne" was Brigitte Bardot. BB returned as "Manzelle Pigalle" during the Spring Term.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club of 1962-63, whose theme was Puerto Rico, had many new and successful activities. Ably led by its officers — Alberto Pico, President; Benner Turner, Vice-President; Cesar Calderon, Secretary; and Ed Bass, Treasurer — the Spanish Club tried to satisfy the interests of all its members.

In the Fall term, a small group went to Boston to see Luis Bunuel's film "Viridiana." The distinguished speaker, Mr. Cesar Calderon Sr. — father of our secretary — spoke to the Club in Spanish about the Alliance for Progress. A joint meeting was given with Abbot at which Cesar Calderon Jr., Nick Phillips, Miguel de

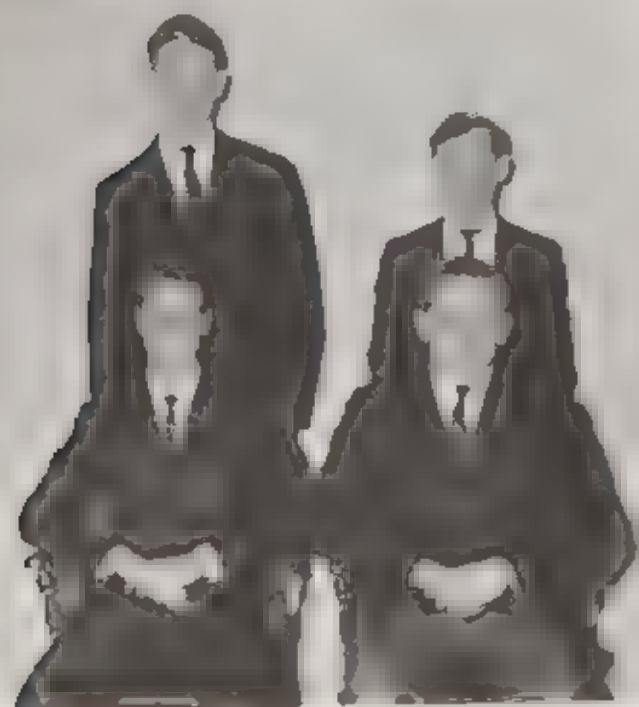

RUSSIAN CLUB

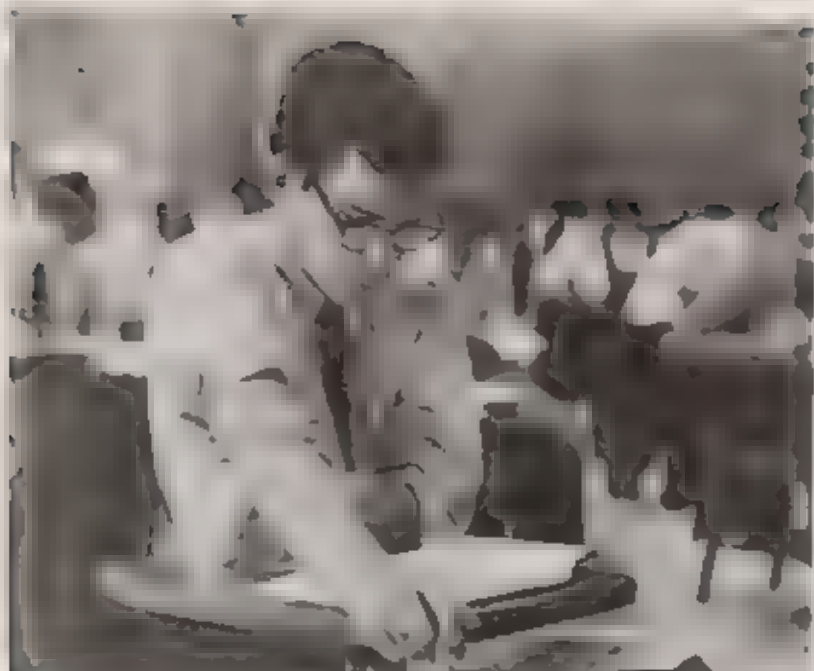

A forewarning of what the 1963 Russian Club was to be like could be found in the club's election the previous spring where a group of non-members, searching for free refreshments and finding none, voted in Jim Binns and three of their own number. This Cinderella foursome — only one of whom, Chuck Rounds, would know a "nyet" from a "dyevushka" — built the club into the largest and most active organization on the Andover campus.

By the third week of School a schedule of events stressing "quality not quantity" and an active promotion campaign had induced over 275 members to the rolls of the club.

With the resulting funds the officers proceeded to make good their once rash promises. Club movies in-

Advanced French students were invited by the French Club and the French Department to meet in informal discussion groups which offered a pleasant change from classwork.

The Club's officers - Paul Hoffmen, President; Doug Torrington, Vice-President; Tom Flory, Secretary; and Didi Pei, Treasurer - were well aided throughout the year by a Board of underclassmen. Toward the end of the Spring Term the officers voted to continue the French Club Prize and Bill Hunt was named the winner for 1962-63. The Club was very fortunate to have Dr. Grew as faculty advisor, and his assistance helped make the year a success.

Estrada, King Sherer, and Alberto Pico spoke for an hour; afterwards the members of the Spanish Clubs of both schools danced and enjoyed themselves for two hours. Later in the term, a small group went to Harvard to see the representation of Garcia Lorca's "Bodas de Sangre" - "Blood Weddings."

The Winter term started with the showing of Mr. Merriam's slides of Spain and Alex Mizne's of Brazil. The movie "Los Olvidados" went on during the middle of the term and "Fedra" - "The Devil's Daughter" - climaxed it.

With the Spring Term came the Spanish Club Tea Dance and later the picnic at the Log Cabin, both of which concluded the year and demonstrated what an outstanding one it was.

cluded "Ballad of a Soldier," "The Brothers Karamazov," and "War In Peace." The school will long remember the Russian Club fall and winter "proms" - largely because they were virtually the only dances that Andover had those terms, also because they were outstandingly popular dances. Reception and special thanks are due to faculty adviser Mr. Lane and to Mr. and Mrs. Shertzer for their assistance.

The highlight of the year was the May 7 visit of Senator Barry Goldwater to the Andover campus. The Senator was entertained at a dinner in his honor at the Andover Inn and then spoke to a special evening school assembly.

GERMAN CLUB

John (Pres.), Schaefer.

The German Club, inactive or semi-active the past few years, finally came to life this year under the sparkling leadership of Wendell John, Bill Schaefer, and Harry Schwethelm, with Messrs. Hulburd, Chivers, and Stevens acting as advisers. Active participation by most students who took German contributed substantially to its success. The first team effort, an October dance, was enthusiastically supported and, as the first tea dance of the year, well-attended. All present seemed to enjoy themselves immensely.

The next major event of the season was the December slide showing and lecture, completely in German, by the native German teacher at Abbot. This gave club

OUTING CLUB

Front: Martin, Strang, Underwood (Pres.), Allen. Back: Mason, Booth.

This year the Outing Club, under the capable supervision of Mr. Sanborn, has concluded another successful and unusually active program of outdoor events.

Hiking trips to mountains in New Hampshire and numerous rock climbing expeditions were enjoyed by the members. The less strenuous but scenic lobster feed at Mr. Sanborn's cottage in Kennebunk, Maine rounded out the activities of the fall nicely.

As winter set in, ski trips to Mount Sunapee on Sundays became a great activity for the ski enthusiasts. The climax of the season included the long weekend trip in February with Mr. Sanborn to North Conway, N.H. and snow shoeing on Mt. Washington and Mt. Monadnock.

But perhaps the greatest innovation to hit P.A. this year has been the spirited kayak program led by Mr. Reid. He has supervised the building of some 30 kayaks

RIFLE CLUB

The Rifle Club enjoyed a very productive season this year. Its members progressed at a steady rate through the NRA awards system and several of them received the NRA's highest award: the Distinguished Rifleman. Headed this year by President Tachi Yamada, the club was managed by Vice-President Doug Everett, Secretary John Hayes, and Executive Officer Mike Francisco. Mr. Merriam, returning from his sabbatical, resumed his position as head coach. Mr. Roehrig as the assistant Coach.

The Rifle Team, co-captained by high-scorer Mike Francisco and John Hayes, had a .500 record for the year, winning two and losing two. The Team first defeated Tabor 893-869 and then, led by John Hayes, members the opportunity of listening to spoken German from an unfamiliar source. Also, the many slides of Berlin gave students a better understanding of the political problem there and added to their store of cultural knowledge, something often neglected in the classroom.

A final highlight of the year was the March showing of the German notion picture, Die Brücke. The recruiting of fifteen and sixteen-year-old boys into the crumbling German Wehrmacht was portrayed in a manner that would soften the hardest heart. The fanatic nationalism of these brave children, doomed to die, demonstrated to all present one of the horrible realities of Hitler's tyrannic rule.

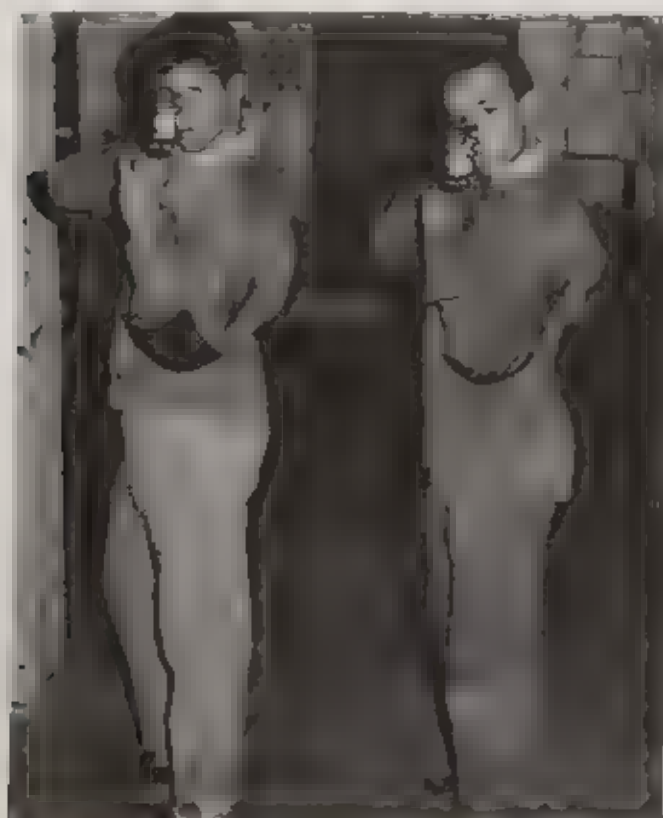

With more events such as these, the organization should have a strong future.

during the season and have been active in trips to nearby rivers and in races involving national competition in slalom and down-river running. Trips that highlighted the kayak season were the Hudson River Race and the West River Race in Vermont.

Other attractions during the year included the John Jay ski film about the F.I.S. Championships and the lecture by Admiral D. B. MacMillan in a Wednesday assembly on life in the Arctic region.

The second lobster feed with Mr. Sanborn at Kennebunk, Me. at the end of May provided another wonderful outing and was an appropriate way to end the year's activities.

drubbed Exeter 906-891. The Team's two defeats came at the hands of St. Paul's 904-887 and Exeter in the Interscholastics 883-879. In this latter match the Team was missing its best shots and would have easily won as the score was substantially lower than any this year. As an affiliated member of the National Rifle Association the Team fired in postal matches throughout the year, placing about thirtieth in the nation. The strength of the team was indicated by the fact it was barely defeated in a postal match with Culver Military Academy, a team ranked about twelfth in the nation. The year's high scorers and their averages were: Mike Francisco, 184.6; Doug Everett, 180; John Hayes, 178.3; and Dave Walker, 178.1.

E.C.C.

After its first full year of operation, the Extra-Curricular Council, of E.C.C., has reached the point where faculty and administration feel that its services are "invaluable". Organized in May, 1962, by Paul Hoffman, Dick Clapp, Ken Kusterer, and Lou Wiley, the Council made its first contribution to the school with the publication of The Student Bulletin. This pamphlet gave a brief description of each organization on campus. Encouraging reactions from faculty and students gave the E.C.C. a good send-off.

By Christmas, however, the Council was immersed in confusion concerning its role at P.A. A constitution and statement of policy were forthcoming. In the latter, the Chairman of the Council emphasized that the E.C.C. was not formed to create red tape or to take over the functions of other groups, but rather to advance the

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club, although not as active as its members might have wished, was still more active this year than in the past and received support from every Catholic student at Andover. Under the leadership of President John Raben and Vice President Jose Gonzales, the club held weekly meetings and had a Communion Breakfast in the Fall.

Much credit must, of course, be given the club's faculty advisor Mr. Regan. Without his interest, the Newman Club at Andover would be virtually inactive, if not non-existent. The club would also like to take this opportunity to thank Fathers Smith and McQuire of St. Augustine's Parish in Andover whose aid was as appreciated as it was invaluable.

PRE-MED SOCIETY

This year's Pre-Med Society, under the guidance and suggestions of Dr. Clark, was reborn with a more interesting schedule of events than previously. Due to the leadership of Howie Reines and President Al Shaplin, the members remained enthusiastic throughout the year.

The Society presented a number of films chosen to arouse interest in medicine not by sensationalism but by presenting a broad picture of the various fields of medicine. The films ranged from careers in industrial medicine to cardiac surgery. In addition, all members were given the opportunity to hear visiting lecturers at the Isham Hospital staff meetings. These lectures gave the members a chance to speak with some of the country's more prominent medical figures.

cause of extra-curricular activities through such means as the Bulletin, which individual clubs could not possibly undertake on their own.

In the Winter Term, the E.C.C. posted its own schedule of club meetings and established committees to help solve the problems of transportation, conflicts of special events, and the relationship between the clubs of Abbot and P.A.

The E.C.C. is looking forward to an expanding role in the extra-curricular field. The Council's future holds an opportunity for smoothing out club conflicts and, perhaps, for earning the term "invaluable" from the entire school community.

During the Fall guest speakers from both the laity and clergy, spoke to the club on matters pertaining to Catholics in a modern, expanded world. The highlight of the year, however, was the Communion Breakfast held in December. Roughly 80 P.A. students as well as 20 guests from Abbot enjoyed breakfast in the Andover Inn, and then heard a speech given by the President of Merrimack College. It is unfortunate that the non-existent club treasury prevented another such Breakfast from being held later on in the year.

The Newman Club looks forward to increased activities in the future, such as mixers with nearby Catholic girls' schools and perhaps even a retreat.

The club took advantage of the proximity to Boston, one of the medical centers of the world, by arranging tours of both the Massachusetts General and Deaconness Hospitals. A resident physician explained a typical patient's progress through the hospital, and then the head of each hospital department spoke to the group.

Mr. Zuppardi of the Isham staff gave a short course in laboratory procedures for interested members. In addition, the club began a library of books on medical education and medicine as a career.

AFRICA CLUB

The Africa Club rose out of Sahara dust in 1962, and under the inspiration of founder Blake Samson it became the club to belong to. Of course, Blake was elected President of the tribe for the 1962-63 year, and he returned with great plans for the on-coming season. However, Blake found himself forced to resign, because he would be occupied throughout the year with a new, yet to be revealed, project; the new ascendant hierarchy included Joel Caron, Dan Boxer, Chris Cooke, Nick Prahl, Roger Farrar, Joe Belforti, and Doug Franchot.

Together these elite transformed the club com-

DRAMA WORKSHOP

During the Fall and Winter this year the new G.W. stage was a liability, restricting performances and rehearsals. In spite of this, two plays were produced in the fall: The Importance Of Being Earnest by Oscar Wilde, and Dust Of the Road. In the former, Meg Power and D. Bowen directed M. Moore, Barbera Rugen, Bina Hayes, P. Burkhard, Mary Durham, R. Healy, and P. Williams for performances in Evans and Kemper. The latter, a Christmas play, was directed by Mr. Sipple in the old A-V, and starred D. Rockwood, Ann Harris, R. Pieters, and J. Bixby.

In the Winter the Workshop presented two plays: Riders From The Sea by Synge was directed by Judy Freedman in Sam Phil A-V and Shaw's Man and Super-

CAMERA CLUB

1963 will always be remembered as the year the Camera Club emerged from underground: the year of the move from the dingy hole in the basement of Peabody House to the luxurious new darkroom in the Arts and Communications Center. The added attractions of the new facilities resulted in the Club's membership increasing to nearly 35 members this year. Among the new facilities reserved exclusively for the Club is a new Durst M-35 (color) enlarger located in its own closet adjoining the main printing room. How the Club paid for the enlarger is still a mystery to President Sandy Trevor, for it cost more than the Club had in its account. All the studio art equipment, from the six 4x5 enlargers to the stainless steel, temperature regulated sinks, are also available to the Club's members. This is due mainly to the efforts of Mr. Bensley, the Club's advisor.

pletely. Their assumption of power was immediately marked by a committee meeting, and thence activities rapidly progressed. The primary accomplishment of the new movement was the vast membership it attracted. Belforti and Caron, drawing the intellectuals, garnered several members of the first honor roll, while Cooke and Boxer snowed the athletes

The officers for the year of 1963-64 have not yet been elected, but it is quite probable that, if Blake Samson is not again otherwise and essentially occupied, he will reassume the Presidency. It will not be at all surprising if the Africa Club once again exceeds all its previous records of membership, and its activities also re-multiply themselves.

man was performed at Abbot in Davis Hall. This long play, cut to one-third its original length, was rehearsed contemporaneously with Macbeth. Meg Power and Jackie Sutton directed D. Bowen, P. Burkhard, R. Liddell, A. Oliver, R. McIlroy, Sue Coolidge, Laurie Griswold, Pris Peterson, P. Monette, and A. Hemenway in this precedent-breaking play.

The Spring Term was marked by The Still Alarm and Yes and No, directed for the Prom by John Guss.

The Year's greatest achievement was brought about by Mrs. Alexander Crane, Headmistress of Abbot, and others in the Abbot administration. By graciously allowing Abbotesses to act in Workshop plays, they solved the problem of finding good female leads, and made the season more enjoyable for everyone involved. This one event — the inclusion of Abbot — made this year truly "great", despite other shortcomings.

Besides attracting new members, the new darkroom is greatly appreciated by the old members, many of whom remember the oppressive heat of the Peabody darkroom. In spite of the great changes this year, however, the functions of the Club have remained essentially the same: to provide developing and enlarging facilities for individual work, and especially for Andover's publications: the Pot Pourri, the Phillipian, the Mirror, and the Alumni Bulletin.

Now that the kinks have been worked out of the new situation, the Club can look forward to an even better year next year. There are hopes that color work will be attempted as well as the regular black and white.

Although the talented band of 1962-1963 was plagued by bad weather during much of the year, its few performances were definite successes. Conductor William Clift's excellent leadership enabled the band to perform well both on the athletic fields and on the stage. President and humorist Joe McGirt was an able leader who helped maintain the band's high spirit during the depressing days and nights of rain and snow.

During the Fall term the band was able to give only two halftime performances, one away at Deerfield and the other during the Mt. Hermon game. At all other contests rain prevented the band from displaying its spirited talent. The more courageous brass players gambled on a promising sky and gathered on the sidelines to play at the exciting Exeter contest.

The first concert of the year, late in the Fall term, was admirably performed by the Rogers Hall chorus and the P.A. band. In the Winter term, after snow had caused the cancellation of the concert-dance at Beaver Country Day, the combined bands of Deerfield and Andover gave a well-received performance on the new G.W. stage. Throughout the whole term a small pep band delighted the crowd at the home basketball games.

As the Spring term rushed to an end, the band planned, weather permitting, to march in the Memorial Day Parade and then to journey to Crane's Beach in completion of a successful and enjoyable year.

CHORUS

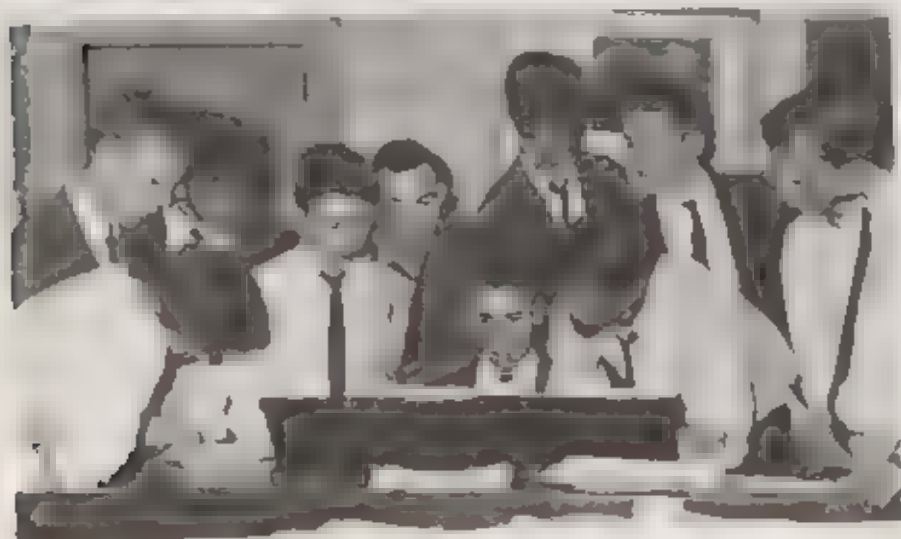

Having a large percentage of returning members, the Chorus, under the leadership of Co-Presidents Norm Hile and Jerry Liles and Secretary Don Engvall, had one of its best years. No longer did Mr. Schneider cast a plaintive look of despair towards the First Base section for, along with the other sections, it was strong. Operating smoothly under Director William Schneider, the Chorus experienced less panic than ever before Sunday morning before Chapel and before the numerous concerts, modern music selections, and the musical.

House in the Pines, Walnut Hill, and Dana Hall had concert-dances with the Chorus and listened to it perform selections from musicals (West Side Story, How To Succeed, and Camelot) and a wide variety of traditional and contemporary sacred works.

Singing for the Wakefield Congregational Church, the Mont Vernon Congregational Church, and a regional Episcopal Youth Service, the Chorus refined itself leading to a joint Easter Service effort with the Fidelio Society of Abbot in which there was real brilliance in a contemporary composition named Mourn Ye Saints.

Abruptly changing style, the Chorus provided a hard knit interior for the Spring musical, Bye Bye Birdie. Again doing a fine effort, the Chorus was congratulated by a steak picnic at Mr. Schneider's country home. The year was ended with a distinguished rendering of Psalm 150 at the Senior Service.

The Phillips Academy Orchestra, directed by Mr. F. Dewitt Thornton, had one of its most successful seasons in years, although it was beset by scheduling conflicts, and ended the year with only two concerts to its credit.

After practicing intensely for the entire fall term, the Orchestra made its debut on December second in the Kemper Auditorium. Although the concert was not widely publicized, it managed nevertheless to attract a large audience. The well-played music included the Overture in D major by Schubert, Haydn's 97th Symphony in C, Issac's Tango Trocadero, and the Marche Militaire Francaise by Saint-Saens. Also played were numbers by McKay and Corelli.

The next concert took place soon after the start of the winter term. In a joint concert with Dana Hall and the Chorus in the Chapel, the Orchestra played another Haydn symphony, along with works by Handel-Kindler and Bizet.

ORCHESTRA

The Orchestra then started work on the third planned concert, scheduled for the Spring Term. At the end of the Winter Term, the Orchestra, now directed by Mr. William Schneider, started work on Bye-Bye Birdie. Unfortunately, however, because the Abbot girls who play in the Orchestra could not come up to the Hill often enough between the musical rehearsals, the third concert had to be cancelled. Working in the new orchestra pit for the first time, the Orchestra turned out one of its finest performances ever in Bye Bye Birdie.

Not having enough time to prepare another concert for the Spring Term, the Orchestra started work right after the musical on a concert to be presented early next year. This year's Orchestra had little trouble proving itself to be one of PA's finest ever.

Many and varied were the performances of the 1963 8'n'l, whether or not one believes they were pleasing to the ear. These ranged from an unforgettable Saturday evening at the Andover Teen Center, to an equally inspiring concert of Prep-School singing groups in Pomfret, Conn. Under the leadership of Norm Hile, the other nine devotees of harmony, (Jerry Liles, Barry Seaman, Neil Macneale, John Casey, John Born, Dick Leonard, Chris Frantz, Frank Holland, and Dan Badger), accomplished their not-too-frequent appearances at the Andover Inn with their usual vigor and audacity, not to be dismayed by lack of recompense. Ultimate thanks for the group's success go to Mr. Owen, their faculty advisor, and to Messrs Sipple and Wadsworth for their invaluable aid.

The 8'n'l record for 1963, which came out at the end of the year, was a final testament to its success, and will always be a reminder that this was an unforgettable year.

INVICTAS

In the fall of 1962 a group of seniors set out to inject a little soul into the musical vacuum of Phillips Academy. Founded on the towering tenor sax of leader Dwight Stephens, the Invictas included Tom Thomas and Dick Gould, two guitar picking blades; Wendell John, high-priest vocalist; K.B. Parsons, the Bruce whose fast hands made the piano shout; and of course that Greenwich brawler, Wick Howard, on bass, and Webb "Panama" Phillips on drums.

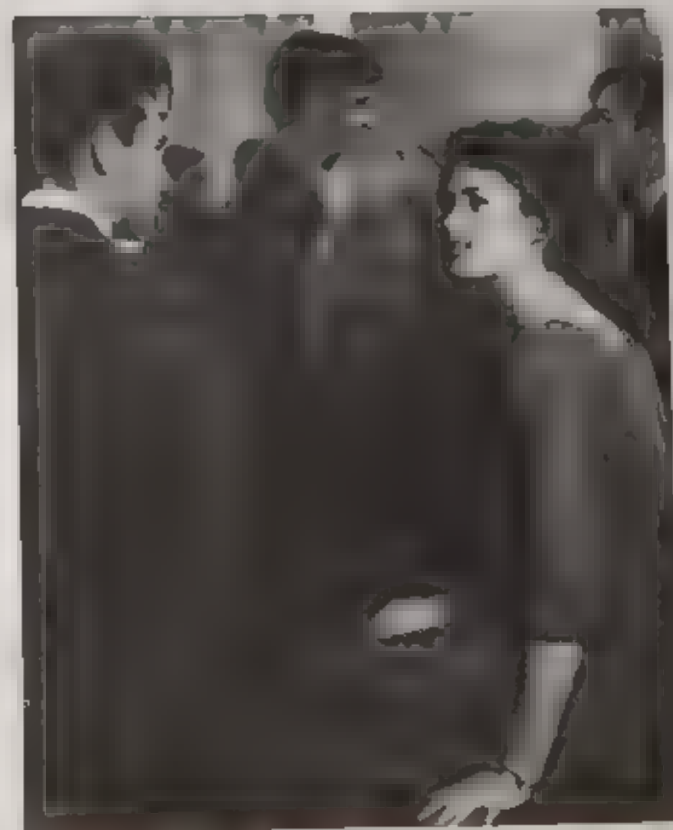

Ushered in by a Phillipian headline, the Invictas were a success from the start, and their music enlivened tea dances everywhere. The group climaxed the winter with a well-received performance on the G.W. stage. In the spring the Invictas were concerned mainly with marketing their new album, placating the discipline committee, and making a few final appearances.

Summing up: as few do, this group had soul.

CELEBRITY SERIES

The thirty-fifth annual Andover Celebrity Series, presented by Aaron Richmond and Harriet O'Brien under the auspices of Phillips Academy, opened on December 1, 1962, with a concert by Jeanne-Marie Darre. Miss Darre thrilled a large audience with her sensitive renditions of such works as: "Fantasia" — Op. 49; Six Valses; selections from "Twelve Etudes", and "Andante Apiano et Polonaise." The second concert in the series was an evening with a Boston Pops group. The crowning touch to the season came on April 26, 1963, when Hal Holbrook presented his one-man show, "Mark Twain Tonight," and enraptured a capacity crowd with his witty sides on the American scene of last century. Thus another remarkable array of top-notch talent was given to the Phillips Academy Community this year.

SENATOR GOLDWATER'S VISIT

On Tuesday night May 7, Senator Barry Goldwater, the spokesman of American Conservatives, spoke to an overflow audience at George Washington Hall. The Senator's visit was the result of an invitation tendered him by Jim Binns, the President of the Russian Club, who introduced his guest. Senator Goldwater's visit was eagerly anticipated by the entire school since he is a leading candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1964. After a short introductory speech in which he defined his philosophy of Conservatism, the Senator answered questions from the floor. Although a very appreciative audience would have wished him to stay longer, the Senator's tight schedule forced him to return to Washington at 10:30.

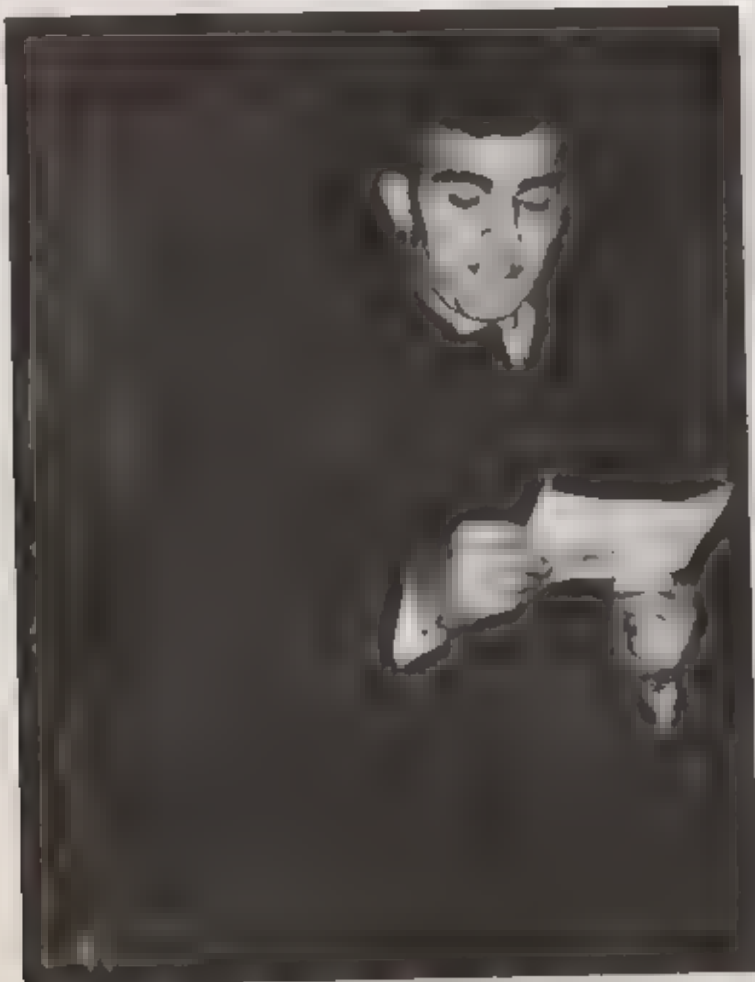

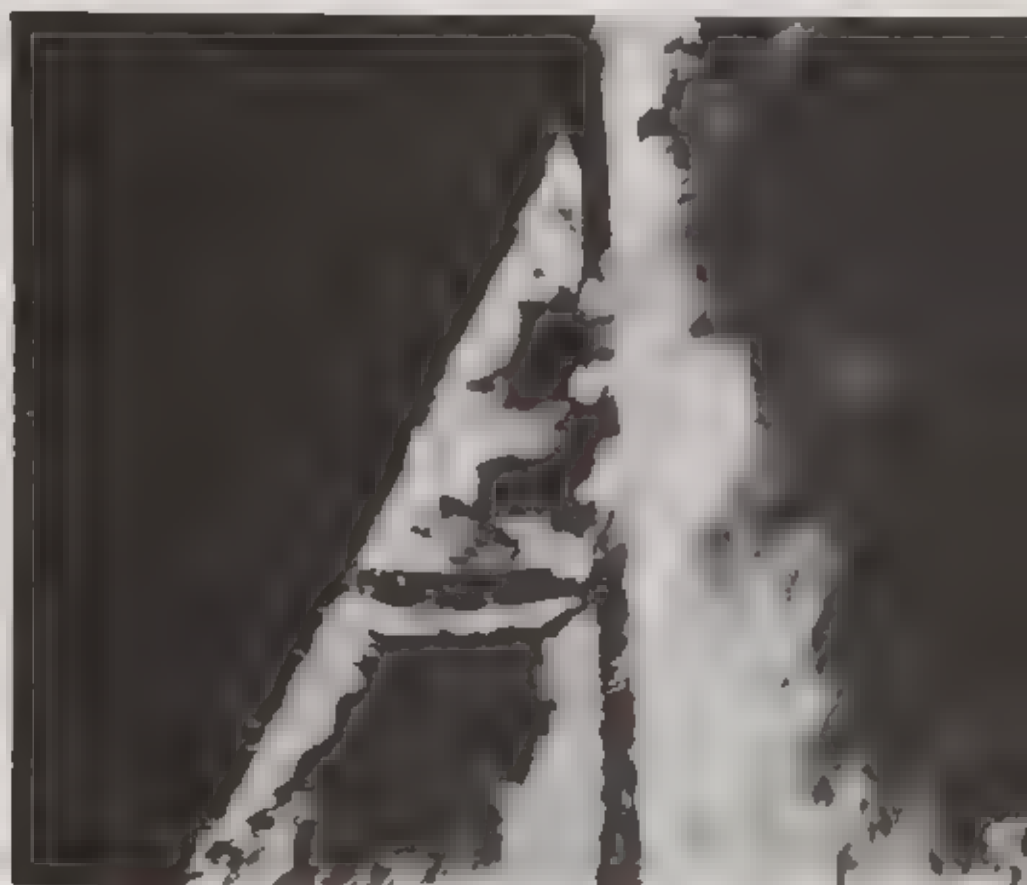

ANDOVER — EXETER WEEKEND

November 9, the night of the rally, had been eagerly awaited by the school since the start of the year. Reports of a loaded Exeter team, loaded with Senior Preps, had been filtering down from the North, and the Red was hopeful of its first win since 1956. Telegrams from such far off places as New Orleans and Palo Alto assured the team that the whole nation was united in support of it. Victory banners showed the school's faith in the team's ability to keep the win streak alive.

The next day, playing in steady drizzle on a mud-covered field, the Blue outplayed the Red, but when the game ended the score was 6-6, producing an anti-climax and a bitter disappointment to a fighting Blue team which had outplayed its favored foe.

MACBETH

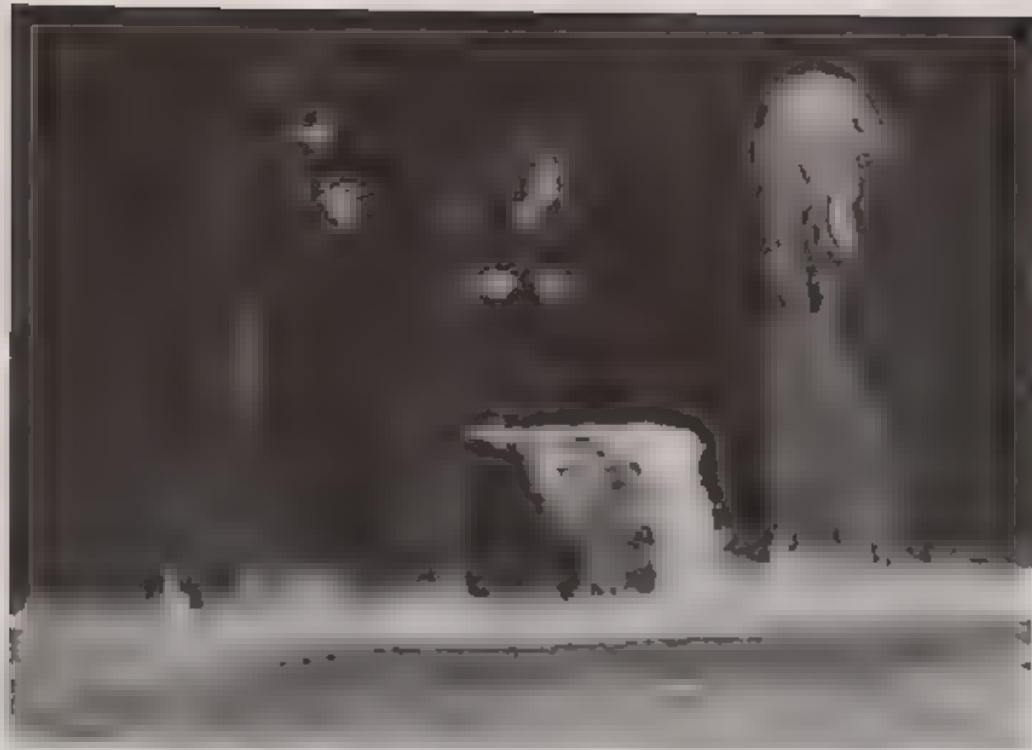

As the winter term began, the inexperienced but willing cast of Macbeth began the long grind to turn out their show. Pete Johnson had been chosen to play Macbeth, and Mrs. Rachel Graber, a teacher from North Andover, was selected to play Lady Macbeth. Matt Roehrig was Banquo, and Eric Heyworth and Bob McIlroy played Macduff and Malcolm respectively. Under the direction of Mr. Hollowell, the group held rehearsals every day, and by the time the new G.W. stage was ready they were able to hold a complete runthrough. The stage crew, under Dave Bowen, Stage Manager, experimented with some progressive ideas in props, and developed some very impressive sets that fit the play's mood well.

When show time finally arrived, all was ready, and such scenes as the porter scene, the witch scene, and the battle scene stood out to make the show thoroughly enjoyable.

An experienced, enthusiastic cast and a tireless twosome of Mr. Hollowell and Mr. Schneider came through with three fullhouse performances of Bye Bye Birdie on the all new facilities of George Washington Hall. Joan Haggerty as Rose, Frank Holland as Albert, and John Casey as Conrad Birdie gave brilliant performances in the title roles while over one hundred others twisted, twitched, and fainted to supply the perfect atmosphere for this parody of rock and roll and teenage America. A precise "Telephone Hour", an effective "One Hundred Way Dream" scene, and an outstanding orchestra are a few of the features which made the musical an exciting process.

Supporting leads also merit mention, for Peggy Whitefield, Johanna Forma, Tod Lueders, and Darrell Salk were integral in achieving the real heights of the show.

Avanti, World's Fastest Production Car

In the summer of '62, during its 12 hours on the Bonneville Salt Flats, the Avanti, Studebaker Corporation's stock tornado left no doubt that America had produced a World's Champion. For example, from a flying start in the Unlimited American Stock Car Supercharged Class, the Avanti (equipped with its optional supercharged 299 cu. in. R-3 engine) set these six new records:

NEW AVANTI RECORDS

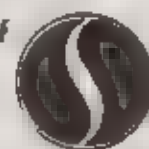

1 kilo	168.24 mph
1 mile	168.15 mph
5 kilo	167.86 mph
5 mile	167.82 mph
10 kilo	167.40 mph
10 mile	163.90 mph

Speed tests were sanctioned and certified by the United States Automobile Club, official U.S.A. representative for the Federation Internationale de l'Automobile, the world governing body for all international records and competitions

The other twenty-three records are equally impressive as is the top speed of 178.5 mph attained during the record runs. And as the records speak for themselves, so the Avanti will speak to you once you're behind the wheel. Your Studebaker dealer will be happy to arrange for a demonstration. The price? $4,445.00 with 4 barrel carburetor (transportation from South Bend, local taxes, and optional equipment additional).

Indulge yourself too, with a test drive in the great new '63 Lark, Gran Turismo Hawk, and Cruiser. Almost every one of the advanced power and performance features of the Avanti is available in all the cars from Studebaker.

You'll find dining at McDonald's one of the good things of life. Everything is so inviting . . . so convenient . . . so spotlessly clean. The service is instant and friendly. The top quality food is prepared to your taste right before your eyes.

HAMBURGERS—100% Pure Beef—not frozen meat—but top quality beef ground fresh daily—served hot off the grill on toasted bun!

FRENCH FRIES—crisp, golden brown and piping hot—you've never, never had French Fries so tasty good!

TRIPLE-THICK SHAKES—smooth, cool and creamy—the old-fashioned kind . . . um-m-m-m they're good!

Plenty of parking . . . no car hops . . . no tipping — just the tastiest food in town at prices that please! Bring the family in and discover the pleasure of dining at McDonald's!
